

Goldwater Wins In Illinois Primary; Smith Vote Surprise

Charles H. Percy Receives
GOP Nomination for Governor

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in the Illinois presidential preference primary shared interest today with a surprising show of strength by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith.

Charles H. Percy, who stepped into a president's post in industry at 29, captured the Republican nomination for governor at the age of 44.

Percy

Returns from Tuesday's primary gave these percentages of the preference vote: Goldwater, 63, Mrs. Smith 26, Henry Cabot Lodge 6 and Richard M. Nixon 3, with the remainder split up among several others.

Sen. Smith, of Maine, came into the Illinois test after Goldwater had entered. She wanted, she said, to give the voters a choice.

Spacecraft Relays Vital Information

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A spacecraft named Fire blazed back through the atmosphere faster than any previous space payload Tuesday night and radioed a wealth of information which could make manned trips to the moon safer.

The spacecraft, looking like a compact model of the Apollo moonship, rode an Atlas missile more than 500 miles into space. As it plummeted back toward earth, a 10-foot-long rocket fired and increased payload speed from about 15,000 to 25,166 miles an hour.

Over 7,000 m.p.h.

The speed was slightly higher than that the Apollo craft is to attain in returning astronauts from the moon. It also was more than 7,000 miles an hour faster than the velocity recorded by any previous space vehicle re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

As the 200-pound payload made the meteoric dive, it radioed information on the heat that seared its blunt shield.

A great shock wave built up in front of the payload and temperature of gases within the wave reached 200,000 degrees. An observer at the South Atlantic tracking station on Ascension Island described the spacecraft as a ball of fire.

Herbert A. Wilson, Project Fire manager for the space agency's Langley Research Center, told newsmen he was very pleased with initial data from the 32-minute flight. A tape recorder stored heat data during the peak period of re-entry when extreme temperatures cut off radio signals.

The recorder made a full report on stored data before the craft plunged into the ocean 5,200 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

3 Turk Cypriots Killed in Clashes

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Scattered clashes flared on Cyprus again today and three Turkish Cypriots were reported killed. Canadian U.N. troops were shot at in two outbreaks and returned the fire.

Greek Cypriot sources said three Turks were killed during the night when Greek fighters overran an advance Turkish position in the Kyrenia Mountains. U.N. officers there are seeking to avert a pitched battle.

The Turks were among about 30 entrenched on a strategic hill 12 miles north of Nicosia.

U.N. headquarters said Canadian troops shot back after Turkish Cypriots fired on them in Trahanas, a Nicosia suburb, and in the Kyrenia Mountains. No Canadian casualties were reported.

Pentagon Issues Figures on Military Edge Held by U. S.

Intelligence Reports Aired
In Reply to LeMay Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara permitted use of intelligence estimates to challenge Gen. Curtis E. LeMay because he wanted to kill at birth any myth about declining U.S. military superiority.

This was learned from defense officials today as the gulf widened between the strong-willed defense secretary and the equally strong-minded Air Force chief of staff.

Doesn't Want Doubts

Late Tuesday the Pentagon issued a statement stressing "the increasing military superiority of the United States." It came after publication of LeMay's February congressional testimony contending the Russians are narrowing the gap.

One high official familiar with McNamara's thinking said the defense secretary feels it is "dangerous to raise any doubts about our strength."

"He thinks it would be wrong to sit by and allow creation of a myth—and it is a myth in his judgment—that there is any lessening of our strength," this official said.

The Defense Department statement did not name LeMay. Authorities would not acknowledge it was aimed at the controversial Air Force chief of staff, who feels McNamara is placing too much reliance on missiles and waving the manned bomber to the sidelines too early.

Goldwater's Views

Officials noted that there had been a spate of criticisms, including a new defense strategy paper spelling out the views of one of McNamara's strongest foes, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

But Goldwater's paper dwelt mostly on the issue of missile reliability—which plunged him into collision with McNamara early in Goldwater's quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

Proposal Sure To be Factor In Campaign

Governor Revives
Idea Suggested
In Late Thirties

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The homestead tax relief scheme outlined to the Legislature today by Gov. Reynolds revives an idea that has not been seriously proposed in Wisconsin since the depression-inspired proposals of the late 1930's.

While its fate is uncertain, it may have considerable political impact while it marks the Democratic governor as a man of ingenious responses to political adversity.

The governor has had few successes during his first term as head of the state government dealing with a Republican controlled Legislature.

Defeated on Road Plan

He was obliged to accept a revenue program with sales taxes that he had categorically said he would never accept.

Last week his fondly planned highway construction acceleration program went glimmering under the force of a powerful and unmistakably contrary vote of the people.

Even the Republicans are likely to credit him in private with an able counter-stroke in reporting an unexpectedly high prospective surplus, and to use it through presumably popular elimination of the sales taxes on electrical and telephone bills and for a new program of tax aid for the impecunious elderly.

Demands for tax ceilings and property tax exemption privileges for homes were common in earlier eras, but always failed on constitutional grounds or because their authors could not devise the replacement revenues required for the local government.

Estimates State Surplus At $50.5 Million in His Proposal to Legislature

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds set Wisconsin's anticipated state surplus at $50.5 million today and in an unexpected move asked the Legislature to turn almost half of it to easing property taxes for persons over 65.

The Democratic chief executive called property taxes generally harsh and unfair, but said the levy is "most cruel" on persons whose income has dropped in old age.

Reynolds had been expected

area of sales rather than property levies.

The governor did ask the repeal of sales taxes on telephone service and intrastate tolls, an item that would shrink revenues this biennium $3.2 million.

Homestead Tax Relief

"The major tax cut I am recommending is the immediate granting of homestead tax relief for the aged in Wisconsin," Reynolds told a joint session of the Legislature.

He said the program would cost $20 million and aid 420,000 persons over age 65.

"After retirement, many older citizens find that they can no longer afford to live in their own homes, or in decent rental housing," the governor said.

"For those people—unable to

lawmakers have approved another tax cutting proposal, and at the same time opened their spring session to consideration of a number of special measures, some of them involving money.

As the lawmakers took these actions Tuesday, there once again was talk of legalizing horse and dog race betting in Wisconsin, with the state getting a cut to be used for educational facilities.

Sponsors say the state's share could go as high as $40 million a year.

Approval Expected

In a move to trim taxes, the Senate approved an Assembly bill that applies the three per cent sales tax on luxury items only to the net cost of the product. The state tax currently is computed on the cost of the item and the federal excise tax on it.

The bill would save taxpayers an estimated $750,000 a year. The governor is expected to sign it.

The horse and dog race betting was taken up by the Assembly which voted 51-34 to revive a proposed constitutional amendment legalizing pari-mutuel wagering. It was given preliminary approval 49-44.

Approval by two successive legislatures and a referendum would be required to legalize the racing and betting.

The appropriations proposals were cleared for consideration by the Joint Finance Committee and the Assembly Rules Committee.

The joint finance unit approved introduction of a measure to give the University of Wisconsin an additional $1.5 million to pay the instruction

Berlin Proposal Renewed

Peking Threatens Red Split, Nikita Charges

BY PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared today the Chinese Communists "have created serious difficulties for the world Communist movement and placed it on the verge of a split."

At the same time, in a speech to a Polish-Russian friendship meeting in the Kremlin, he demanded a solution of the German question on the old Soviet basis — a peace treaty that would make West Berlin a "free city."

Speaking with rapid gestures, often smiling, talking very fast, the premier declared the Chinese are urging a revolutionary course which would lead to war. Khrushchev said the Soviet system of advancing through economic competition was a better system than that of China.

People Want Rice

"They say we are the revisionists," he declared, "but I ask, what do their people want—war or rice? I think they want rice."

He scoffed at the Chinese policy as likely to pose the question of whether the Soviet Union for instance, should make war on France in order to put the French workers into power.

"Who would die in that war?" he demanded. "Imperialists? No. The same working people would die as would die in China or elsewhere."

The meeting honored Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, who have

Wind Storm Loss May Exceed $1 Million

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An insurance spokesman has estimated that damage from the wind storm that pounded Wisconsin on Monday may go over the $1 million total.

M. W. Hastings, Milwaukee regional manager for General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., said Tuesday he expected about 6,300 claims from throughout the state as a result of the storm, which packed winds gusting at 80 miles an hour.

He anticipated his office, serving the southern half of the state, would receive about 3,600 claims amounting to about $360,000.

Walter H. Barnes, manager of the Green Bay office, estimated there would be about 2,750 claims totaling $275,000 in the northern half of the state.

nomination. The senator is an Air Force Reserve major general.

Instead, the Pentagon blast was aimed clearly at disputing questions raised "regarding the magnitude of our superiority and whether it is continuing to grow." LeMay's published testimony raised those questions.

Approval Indicated
Officials would neither confirm nor deny whether McNamara had initiated the statement, which was issued in the name of the Defense Department.

But they said it would not have come out "without the approval or knowledge of the secretary."

And this approval and knowledge would have applied to its contents—more specific intelligence information about relative U.S.-Soviet strengths than is normally allowed out by the Pentagon.

Asked why this data was being released now, a spokesman said, "These decisions are made in government from time to time."

Report Growing Might
To support its declaration that our superiority "has been increasing and we intend that it shall continue to increase," the Pentagon disclosed that:

—The United States has 540 strategic bombers constantly on alert and that the Soviets "could place over this country, on two-way missions," no more than 270 bombers, including 150 mediums that could hit only Alaska and the U.S. Northwest.

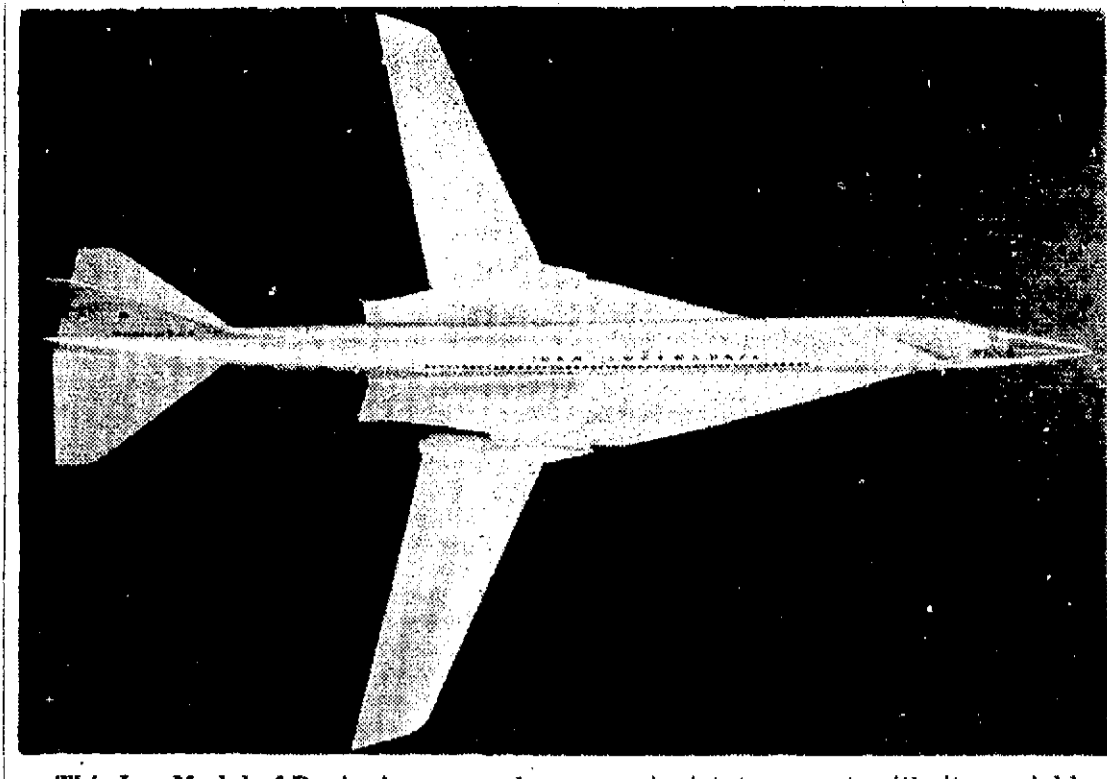

—The Air Force has about 750 intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to launch while the Soviets have less than one-fourth that number in operation. That would be fewer than 187.

—We have 192 Polaris missiles deployed; the Soviets have substantially fewer submarine-launched ballistic missiles in operation.

Nuclear Submarines
—U.S. Polaris submarines are all nuclear-powered; only a small percentage of Soviet missile subs are atomic-run. Polaris missiles can be fired from under water; the Soviet missiles can't. Each U.S. Polaris rocket has at least a 1,500-mile range; the Soviet missiles less than 500.

As for relative bomber strength since 1961, the Pentagon statement suggested this favors the United States—that the U.S. bomber force on combat alert has increased from less than 500 then while the Soviet bomber force has stayed about the same.

Both sides had only about "a

The implication here was that both sides started at about the same place three years ago and that the United States has vaulted ahead, not slowed down.

LeMay testified before a House Appropriations subcommittee in late February. That was before a decision was made to extend his tenure as Air Force chief of staff seven months beyond the July 1 expiration date of his present term.

McNamara's associates insist relations between the two men are cordial. But there is a strong belief the decision to extend LeMay until Feb. 1 was chiefly that of President John-

The committee introduced bills to exempt motor fuel used in boats from the selective sales tax and to provide $80,000 for additional financing for tuberculosis treatment in Menominee County.

The Rules Committee forwarded a bill that would change the law to permit telephone utilities to provide free service to current and retired employees. The Public Service Commission said recently such service was not permitted under state law.

Willis Hutnik, R-Ladysmith, and several other assemblymen won introduction of a measure requiring foreign meat and dairy products sold in Wisconsin to carry a label identifying the country of origin.

Seat Belt Bill Beaten
Rejected by the rules committee was a bill that would have required the installation of seat belts in school buses. Also rejected was a proposal that would have exempted municipalities of less than 29,000 population from the law requiring the use of voting machines by September of 1966. Only communities of less than 10,000 are currently exempt.

The Senate approved and sent to the Assembly a bill setting aside $25,000 to advertise Wisconsin fish products. Approved by the Senate and sent to the governor was a bill appropriating $10,000 a year for capital improvements at the Circus World Museum in Baraboo.

The Senate also passed legislation directing the State Investment Board to purchase up to write-ins for P. President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for vice president.

Returns from 1,834 precincts gave Johnson 22,237 and Kennedy 363, and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama 116.

The Democrats had no major contests—a factor in the relationship of voters.

work or to travel—the major joy in life is the comfort of a familiar hearth. If we are to get our money's worth out of property tax relief, the legislation must be pinpointed to favor those who need that relief most."

2 Tax Reductions

Reynolds' accounting allowed for the loss of revenue resulting from repeal of the three per cent sales tax on household electricity and telephone bills, and the elimination of the sales levy on federal excise taxes applied to luxury items. These cuts, he said, would amount to almost $7 million in the biennium.

After addition of the $20 million earmarked for property tax relief, the governor said state government still would have a comfortable surplus of about $23 million.

The Democratic chief executive obviously held the hope that the projected reserve would meet Republican arguments that he was cutting things too thin.

"To tax and hoard is confiscation," he said in support of using about three-fifths of the projected surplus.

Figures Face Challenge
Sure to be challenged, however, were the figures Reynolds used in reaching his surplus total.

He attributed $8.2 million to the spur put to Wisconsin's economy by the federal tax cut. Another $16.2 million will come from an unanticipated increase in corporation taxes, and another

$1.1 million from other revenue sources producing beyond expectations, he said.

To that $25.5 million, the governor added a known November surplus of $6.2 million and $18.8 million in receipts expected from crediting June 1965 sales and income tax withholding collections to the current biennium, even though the money will not be in hand until a month later.

Prepares Measure

"If anything, these estimates are conservative," Reynolds said, "for, unlike many economic advisers throughout the nation, ours are not assuming a greater increase next year than we are experiencing this year."

The governor said he would submit a bill to provide for the homestead tax relief he asked. The measure would provide a maximum benefit of $100 for persons over 65, whether they pay property taxes or live in rental property.

A formula was set out for calculating payments. It provides that the state will pay 50 per cent to 100 per cent of the property tax persons over 65 pay in excess of their total income.

Proposed Reductions

The 100 per cent factor would apply to those with earnings of $1,000 a year or less. Those with earnings of up to $2,000 would be entitled to a 75 per cent reduction factor, and those earning more than $2,000 would get 50 per cent of the amount they pay in excess of 5 per cent of their income.

As an example, Reynolds

Callaway County Has Unique Punishment For Drunken Drivers

Dalrymple chose to become the first of a 5-mile road cleanup gang and was ordered to return to court Monday with his litter collection. He also was fined $50 and costs.

cited a retired person living on a total income of $3,000 a year, including social security payments, and paying property taxes of $350.

Five per cent of the individual's income is $150, the governor said. The amount paid above 5 per cent is $200. The state would contribute half of that amount, or $100.

The same formula would apply to renters over 65. Benefits would be based on 25 per cent of rental costs, a figure Reynolds said could be considered the equivalent of a property tax payment.

Khrushchev declared the Peking leaders had bungled their economy by trying the "great leap forward" plan for industrialization and brought hardship to their own people.

Now, he said, they are asking the Soviet people to slow down the development of their own economy and sacrifice the benefits the people here had gained.

Khrushchev said he had personally cautioned Chinese party leader Mao Tse-tung against trying China's "great leap forward" saying the country was not prepared.

But he insisted he did not pursue the point to the level of interference. He said the Chinese leaders accused the Soviet leaders of refusing to move forward with the revolution.

"Forward to the grave?" he demanded sarcastically.

He said the Chinese were proceeding along "the course outerments which rely upon property levies.

The effect and apparently the intent of the governor's plan is to mitigate some of the popular resentment he fears exists because of his sales tax record by using some of the proceeds for homestead tax aids for the elderly.

The constitutional requirement is for uniformity of property tax treatment of properties. The governor's plan would in effect detour that requirement by providing for credits through the mechanism of the state income tax. Thus the state would be picking up a part of the property tax bill of the older. One objection to the plan probably will be that if it is adopted for the next year, as the governor asks, it will be difficult to get rid of it even if the state treasury in the future is unable to finance it.

St. Norbert Professor To Give Piano Recital

Joseph M. Cohen to Make His Area
Debut in Pennings Hall Sunday Night

Joseph M. Cohen, assist a n t professor of music at St. Norbert College, will make his debut before a northeastern Wisconsin music audience at 8:15 p.m. Sunday evening with a piano recital in the Hall of Fine Arts auditorium on the De Pere College campus.

The public is invited to attend with no admission charge.

Cohen joined the St. Norbert music department staff last fall after completing his doctoral studies at the University of Rochester's Eastman School of Music.

Cohen brings an extensive background in the field of music to the Hall of Fine Arts' stage Sunday evening.

Pianist-Arranger

He has served as pianist and arranger for such name bands as Gene Krupa, the Sauter-Finnegan Orchestra, Jan Garber and Vincent Lopez. He also has been associated on the same basis with singers Georgia Gibbs, Don Cherry and Charlie Applewhite.

A native of New York City, Cohen graduated from Bryant High School in Queens. He received a bachelor and master degree in music from Texas Christian University in 1953 and 1954, respectively. At TCU he graduated summa cum laude. During his studies there he produced an original ballet.

His current position represents his first year of full-time teaching, although he held an assistantship and fellowship at Eastman while studying for his doctorate.

Cohen's major in his doctoral studies was in the field of theory and composition. For his dissertation, he wrote a symphony.

Downer Chorus Concert Friday

40-Voice Group to Appear in 2:30 p.m.
Harper Hall Program

The 40-voice Milwaukee-Downer Women's Chorus, now touring midwest and eastern cities, will sing a public concert at 2:30 p.m. Friday in Harper Hall, Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Downer's chorists are conducted by Prof. Eugene Casselman, chairman of the college's department of music.

Casselman holds a bachelor of music degree from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J., and a master of music degree from American Conservatory, Chicago. He joined the Downer faculty in 1954 after teaching at Mary Baldwin College, Colorado College, and Gustavus Adolphus College. He will join the Lawrence Conservatory faculty in the fall.

He has appeared frequently as a conductor of festival choirs, and as a choral and vocal clinician. His articles on various phases of vocal arts have been published nationally. He also is an experienced church musician, presently serving as director of the Kenwood Methodist Church Choir, Milwaukee.

The Downer singers come from all parts of the U.S. and several foreign countries. Their current tour includes a series of nine concerts in eastern seaboard cities.

Their repertoire includes three selections arranged by Marjory Irvin Downer associate professor of music. Miss Irvin also will join the Lawrence faculty this fall.

Other parts of the program include vocal and piano solos and selections by two vocal trios.

Win an 'Outdoor Living' Set of Miniature Vehicles

BY CAPPY DICK

A set of four "Outdoor Living" miniature vehicles by Tonka Toys, all packed in a big box nearly 28 inches long, 14 inches wide and over eight inches high will be awarded to the five boys and girls who become the national prize winners in today's contest.

To win a set, a boy or girl must submit a correct contest entry that is original enough to win a local preliminary prize and then, competing against local winners from all cities where this column is published, be selected by the judges as one of the five most original entries of all.

The local preliminary prize in this contest is lots of fun to win.

winch. On the trailer is a power boat with a removable motor. All vehicles are made of steel with white sidewalls and chrome wheel discs.

To enter the contest and try for the prizes unscramble the letters in the picture above to spell the name of a pie. Print the name in the spaces provided. Clip out the picture, paste it on paper or a postal card, print your name, age and address beneath it, then decorate your entry in any neat, original way, using paints, crayons, cutouts or other materials.

Address it to Cappy Dick's Midwest Contest at the Appleton Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

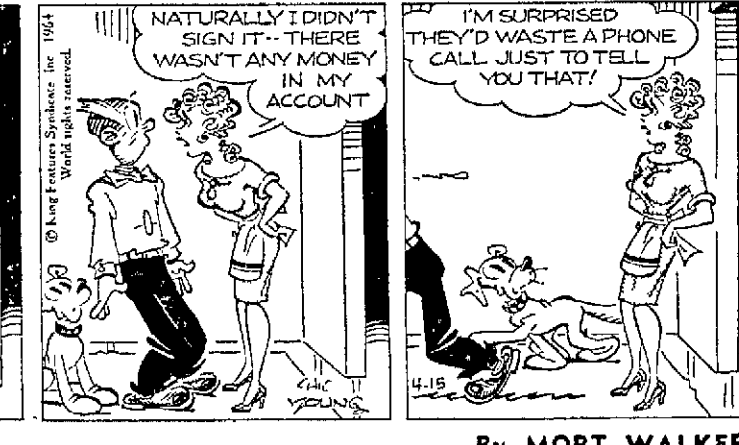

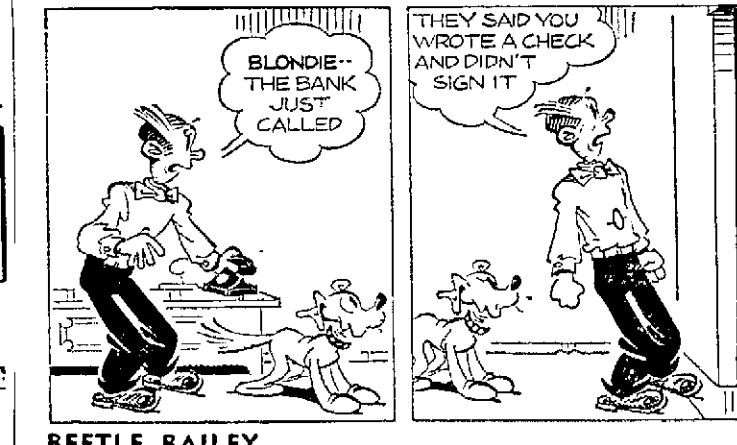

Winner's names will be announced here. They will receive their prizes by mail. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned. Judges' decisions will be final. (Copyright, 1964)

Do convenience foods really save time?

Yes — No —

Yes. An article in the "Journal of Home Economics" analyzes the time that ready-prepared foods save the homemaker. Convenience foods help to: eliminate some of the routine tasks; simplify preparation and reduce dishwashing; eliminate the need for maintaining extensive recipe files; shorten cooking time; allow more choice as to when, where, how, and by whom food is prepared; reduce the number of time-consuming items to be prepared at mealtime; and cut down on the number of shopping trips needed for every week. No wonder ready-mixes are big business!

Medical Care Involved

Retirement Benefits Increase Is Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances of an increase in the basic retirement payment under Social Security appear to be bright this year.

Such an increase could be a by-product—and perhaps the only immediate result—of the continuing pressure for a federal old age health plan added to the Social Security System.

Another possible outcome would be a revamping of the present state-federal system of medical care for the aged to take in a broader income bracket and to de-emphasize what many critics regard as the welfare aspects of the program.

Health Plan
These were the prospects as the House Ways and Means Committee scheduled more closed-door discussions of the Social Security health care plan. President Johnson backs—and of related matters, covering a broad field.

An increase in the retirement payment would fit in well with Johnson's antipoverty program and would not be likely to arouse anything like the opposition that has resisted every move to add health care to the Social Security System.

There has been no over-all increase in the old age retirement payment since Jan. 1, 1959. However, in August 1961, the minimum payment was increased from $33 to $40 a month. The monthly maximum for those fully covered now is $127 at age 65. Wives 65 or older receive half their husbands' benefits. Optional reduced payments may be had at ages between 62 and 65.

Oppose Medicare
A majority of the Ways and Means Committee, which handles all Social Security legislation, is understood still to oppose the medical care plan.

But some of those who oppose it are known to be willing to consider an increase in the old age benefit, based on the argument that the slow but continuous increase in living costs has eroded the means of older persons dependent on Social Security. Presumably, many members of Congress would welcome an opportunity to cast an election year vote "for the old folks," without becoming embroiled in the emotion-filled controversy over medical care.

320,000 Moved to Mountain Regions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—North Viet Nam's Communist government says it has moved 320,000 persons from the populous Red River delta to the mountains, apparently to solve its acute agricultural crisis.

Since January Members of the Benefit Circle of the King's Daughters have devoted after-meeting hours and other times to preparing their May 1 Flea Market. The event will be held at Valley Fair. Above, at the home of Mrs. Russell Berggren, are Mrs. Forrest Sprowl, Mrs. Clarence Zelle, Mrs. John Kloehn, Mrs. John Menn, Mrs. Robert Spanagel and Mrs. Robert Furstenberg. At right, Mrs. James Femal and Mrs. John Rosebush look at some of the items that will be offered at the gala rummage sale.

May 1 Flea Market Set by Benefit Circle at Valley Fair

A Flea Market, patterned after the famous setting on Paris' Montmartre, will again be set up by the Benefit Circle of the King's Daughters. This year a repeat of the colorful and interesting sale initiated in 1963 will be held May 1 at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Booths will be arranged to resemble the French market place, with everything from children's toys to books and records, household appliances, dishes, plants, baked goods and boutique items will be offered. Booths, gaily decorated, will be designed to put customers in a carnival mood, suitable to the atmosphere of Paris in the spring.

Originated in 1880s

The French Flea Market consists of over 3,000 booths, pushcarts, lean-to's, tents and stalls crowded onto only a few acres of land. Almost everything is sold at the gigantic rummage sale, started, legend says, by rag-pickers during the Prussian siege of Paris in the 1890s. The French peasants and vacationing tourists still roam the stands for bargains.

Mrs. Wilmer Stach and Mrs. Charles Buchanan are chairmen of this year's project.

Kimberly WCOF To Install Officers

KIMBERLY — Officers will be installed by Mrs. B. J. Ouellette at a meeting of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters of Holy Name Catholic parish at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school cafeteria.

Cards will be played and lunch served at a social after the business meeting. Mrs. Paul Lochschmidt is refreshment chairman.

Pleasures of the Table

Eating is one of life's pleasures. Yet how few people truly enjoy the food they eat. As an example, take a lunch counter at the noon hour — all those people "grabbing a bite" and not really tasting a bit of it. Most of us eat much too fast all the time, so fast that we hardly ever savor our food. In so doing, we not only deprive ourselves of enjoyment but we lay ourselves wide open to weight problems. The fact is that when your food goes unrelished, your appetite becomes difficult to satisfy. As an appeasement measure, you keep on eating long past the point of actual need. And, as every figure-conscious — chewing, tasting and appreciating every morsel — is a key to appetite control and ultimately to weight control. For, once you make a habit of leisurely eating, you come to enjoy less food more.

In forming the habit, a reducer finds a painless shortcut to her goal. It enables her to lose without those hunger blues. And, thereafter, it acts as a barrier to encroaching weight.

If you need to lose weight, try this measure. You will soon eat much less than formerly and then, without going on a formal diet, you could begin to lose about a pound each week.

Reduce without starving! Send for my purse-sized booklet, "Diet And Like It," which includes: Shortcuts to dieting; a calorie calculator; simplified menu planning; your model weight. For your copy, write woman knows, over-weight results from taking more food than the body can use.

Wash Bed Pillows To Fluff

When your spring cleaning attention turns to the linen closet and bedding, don't overlook those feather bed pillows. Pillows trap soil and need a soap-and-water session at least once a year to keep them sweet, clean and fluffy. How to do it? Use your automatic washer and dryer and follow these suggestions. Before washing check pillows carefully and mend any tears or open seams. If the pillow ticking is worn or in poor condition, place each pillow in an old pillowcase and baste the open end closed. Always wash pillows two at a time for a balanced load. Place one pillow on each side of the agitator. Set washer for regular wash cycle, warm wash and rinse, and gentle action. Add detergent in the measured amount recommended for normal soil. As the washer fills, push pillows down into the water for complete saturation before gentle agitation begins or pillows may float on top of the water. Halfway through the wash cycle, stop the washer and turn the pillows over. Close the lid, re-start and allow washer to complete cycle. Set your dryer for normal temperature and maximum time selection. Place the two feather pillows in the dryer along with three or four Turkish towels, which will shorten the drying time. Since pillows are bulky they may require more than one drying cycle.

Brazil Opens New Chapter in History

Role of Military in Politics
May be Determined as Army Man Heads Interim Government

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — A new chapter, possibly one of the most significant in Brazil's recent political history, opened today with the inauguration of Gen. Humberto Castello Branco as president.

How strong a hand the military will take in running the country and the prospects for political peace should be determined during the 21 months the 64-year-old former army chief of staff heads the interim government.

The military leaders of the anti-Communist coup that overthrew President Joao Goulart have promised elections for a new president in October 1965, when Goulart's successor would have been chosen.

Lack of Interest

There was a marked lack of interest in non-official circles as authorities completed preparations for the inauguration.

Reynolds Is Charged With Agency Misuse

Knowles Suggests
Probe of Highway Program Support

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warren P. Knowles, the Republican candidate for governor, said Tuesday night there were numerous examples "of flagrant misuse of state agencies by the present governor in seeking support of his programs."

Knowles made the assertion in a letter proposing an investigation by the State Senate of "the time and money spent by state agencies, at public expense" in supporting the recent accelerated highway construction program of Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Probe Suggested

The investigation was suggested in a letter to Sen. Frank Panzer, R-Brownsville, the Senate president pro tem. Knowles said, "It would seem to me that the Senate's Committee on Government Operations should study this situation as it relates to possible legislation to curb such excesses in the future."

Knowles said that in the drive for the highway program, "the Highway Department circulated documents and booklets that were nothing but propaganda. The Civil Defense director, a $15,000 official; the $17,000 head of the Department of Resource Development; a $15,000 Public Service Commission member; a $15,000 deputy in the Department of Administration; the governor's $14,000 legal counsel, and his personal staff whose salaries total $40,000, were all spending a major share of their time in political campaigning for his point of view."

Highway Program

The highway program was hinged to a one-cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax, and was resoundingly defeated in the April 7 election.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., said Tuesday night he was "delighted to accept" an invitation to speak at the $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner of Wisconsin Democrats in Milwaukee on May 16.

"I love Wisconsin and feel at home there," Humphrey said. "We Democrats in Minnesota and Wisconsin have a lot in common and have to stick together."

State Senate Moves Toward Study Group

Commission Was Suggested by Fox Valley Committee

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state legislature is moving for the creation of a study commission on county government population representation.

Tuesday the senate adopted a conference committee substitute of the measure originally proposed by a committee of civic leaders from the Fox River Valley counties and other populous districts for a system of population representation on county boards.

This substitute measure directed the study committee to emphasize reorganization of county boards on the basis of population. It referred some weight for other factors such as geography and municipal boundary lines.

Original Proposal

The original proposal was for a report that would offer a system of population representation only. This plan encountered resistance of the traditionally conservative representatives of rural districts which hold a majority of county board seats in urbanized counties in spite of their minority status in numbers of inhabitants.

The conference committee report, submitted by Sen. Gerald Lorge of Outagamie county, is expected to be approved by the assembly and the study committee would be set in motion by the joint Legislative Council. It would include legislators and representatives of the various leagues of local government and would file a report to the legislature of 1965 which will meet next January.

Movie Causes Controversy At World Fair

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A film made for a religious organization at the Circus World Museum has become involved in a controversy at the New York World's Fair and will be dropped if it fails to win public acceptance.

Robert Moses, the fair president, has objected to the movie, scheduled to be shown 10 times daily, and has challenged the "propriety, good taste and validity of a film representing Jesus as a clown."

The Rev. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protestant Council of New York City, said Tuesday the 22-minute film, entitled the "Parable," would be shown at the Protestant-Orthodox Center at the fair despite objections.

Mr. Potter said the film "places the world in a circus setting, but deals symbolically with the evils of prejudice, dishonesty, trickery, dictatorship and servitude." He said the movie's main character, a circus mime (a mimic or buffon), was not meant to represent Christ but to suggest the Christ image.

Beloit College Picks Man to Head Program

BELOIT (AP)—Beloit College announced Tuesday that William M. If the goal is attained, Beloit will qualify for additional foundation grants of $1.6 million.

Created Controversy

Rachel Carson, Author of Book, 'Silent Spring' Dead of Cancer

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Death by cancer has silenced Rachel Carson whose book "Silent Spring" created international controversy with its charge that man was poisoning the earth and himself by his efforts to control nature with chemicals.

Miss Carson, 56, a biologist who became a best selling author in 1951 with "The Sea Around Us," died Tuesday afternoon at her home. She learned five years ago, apparently while working on "Silent Spring," that she had cancer.

Warning Posed

Her book helped inspire a White House report last May calling for stronger federal laws on pesticides and new steps to regulate their control.

The book warned of the dangers of tampering with the balance of nature and argued for biological controls rather than massive and indiscriminate use of chemicals, such as pesticides and weed killers.

She wrote: "These sprays, dusts, and aerosols are now applied almost universally to farms, gardens, forests and homes — nonselective chemicals that have the power to kill every insect, the 'good' and the 'bad,' to still the song of birds and the leaping of fish in the streams, to coat the leaves with a deadly film, and to linger on in the soil—all this though the intended target may be only a few weeds or insects. Can anyone believe it is possible to lay down such a barrage of poisons on the surface of the earth without making it unfit for all life?"

Belgians With Minor Ailments Must Shift For Selves in Strike

Urgent Cases Taken Care Of Under Emergency Setup

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The seriously ill have been getting adequate treatment or better since the 15-day-old doctors' strike began, but those with minor ailments have to shift for themselves.

With most of Belgium's 10,000 doctors on strike against a new medical insurance law, there was general apprehension that many patients would die untreated.

Urgent cases on the whole have been taken care of under an emergency setup organized by the physicians and taken over three days ago by the government.

3,600 Mobilized

Premier Theo Lefevre's government issued a decree Sunday calling for mobilization of 3,600 army reserve doctors, and requisitioning civilian doctors attached to hospitals. It says it has mobilized about 5,700 physicians.

The situation in many parts of Belgium, however, is reaching a critical point, with hospitals overcrowded and the danger of epidemics increasing.

Strike leaders claim their emergency setup is collapsing since the government took it over. The interior Ministry blames the strikers, accusing them of sabotage.

During the 12 days the doctors ran the emergency service, with 2,000 physicians on day and night duty, there were no reports of danger to health.

For the poorer Belgians who were emergency cases, medicine and treatment were free. There have been cases of hardship, especially for patients who wanted to be treated at home.

Hospital wards are overcrowded and patients are sent home as quickly as possible. Personal nursing attention is becoming nonexistent.

Although 3,600 military reserve doctors have been called to active duty this does not seem to help. Many come on a foot, without their medical instruments.

Your Problems

Ann Gives Wives Plaudits For Successful Marriages

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are both avid Landers fans. We frequently discuss your answers and agree that you make sense.

I feel, however (and so do many of my friends), that you are biased in favor of husbands. So often you take the position that the wife is at fault when the marriage fails.

Recently you told your readers that the smart wife who really wants her marriage to work makes her husband feel like "her hero." Then you went on to suggest that she "build him up when he's down, make him feel important," and so on. I'd like to have a dime for every American male who wagged that column under his wife's nose.

Now, Ann Landers, will you give us wives a break and write a column on how a man can make his wife feel like his queen? Thank you. — The Distaff side

Dear Distaff: While I am busy handing out hints on how to make a husband feel like a hero I would like to add this: Show me a successful marriage and I will show you a wife who is a heroine.

The notion that a marriage is 50-50 is a lot of eyewash. It is more like 70-30 with the burden on the little woman. The successful wife must be meek as a lamb and gummy as a bear — and smart enough to know what the occasion demands. She must be nurse, sweetheart, cook, housekeeper, financial wizard, walling wall, companion, friend and confidant.

The hand that rocks the cradle also holds the fate of the marriage — and any husband who doesn't know it has rocks in his head.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm almost ashamed to write this letter because it seems like such a foolish thing to be discussing with a stranger, but honestly it has me worried sick.

I am 17 and going with a very nice fellow. One day I want to be married and have children, but I am scared to death of childbirth. I just don't think I could go through the pain and suffering. When I hear of a young mother who dies giving birth to a child I go into a cold sweat, whether I knew her or not.

I've tried to trace this fear back to my childhood and all I can remember is a movie I once saw where a woman in labor was suffering something awful. I had nightmares for years after that but it was a long time ago.

Am I some kind of a nut? I have a feeling something is wrong with me. Please answer this letter. — Afraid

Dear Afraid: You're not a nut. You are frightened because you are ignorant. Most women will tell you that childbirth is one of the most thrilling and fulfilling of human experiences.

Ask your family doctor for literature. Tell him how you feel and enlist his help in overcoming this fear by educating yourself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a regular reader and I am very pleased with your sensible approach to tall girl — short boy, etc.

I am planning to be married in June. My fiancé is the salt of the earth. I consider myself lucky to get him, even though he is five inches shorter than I am. He has a terrific sense of humor and just loves it when I call him "Big Daddy."

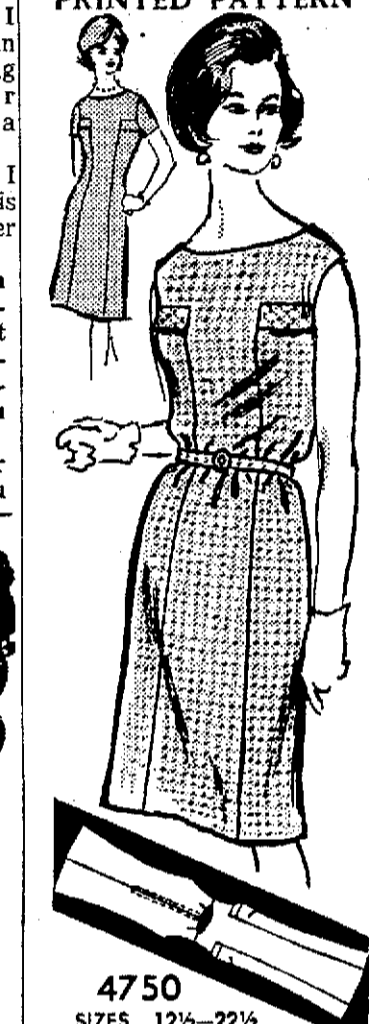

I plan to wear ballet slippers for the wedding ceremony and I want him to wear elevator shoes. He says he'll do it to please me but he sees no point in it. What do you say? — Diane

Dear Diane: I know of no elevator shoes that will add five inches to any man's height. But if you want to go in for visual aids for the occasion — and if Big Daddy is agreeable — go ahead.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Don't be a clock-watcher when it comes to complexion care! Remember that skin becomes oilier in hot weather, and dirtier when you exercise or expose it to soil. MU Professor Cites White 'Conspiracy to Keep the Negro Out'

Dr. James Barrett Addresses Rights Commission at Lawrence

"We have witnessed a widespread conspiracy among the white people of our country to keep the Negro out."

This view by Dr. James Barrett, Marquette University biology teacher and member of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, set the theme for the commission's regional meeting Tuesday at Lawrence College.

Barrett said housing segregation, discrimination and ostracizing of the Negro were status symbols in some social complexes. He said residential discrimination often was strongest among lower income groups "to keep the Negro below their level by keeping him out of their neighborhood."

Most people agree something should be done "to give the Negro a better break," Barrett said, "but when it comes to doing something in their own area, then they hesitate on their stand."

Solutions to discrimination problems can best be arrived at through individual action, Barrett said. He suggested formation of local human rights commissions and said to accomplish things in the human rights field, "you have to do them on your own."

Mrs. Ulysses Lindsay, Milwaukee, secretary of the commission, attacked claims that Negroes are lazy and don't want to work. "For 250 years, we did the white man's work for them. For the next 100 we did the dirty work."

She said for the first 250 years Negroes were in America, the law said they couldn't be educated. "Today their education is being neglected. In World War II, many Negroes were brought to the North to work in factories. They're given second class opportunities, second class education and second class citizenship," she said.

Second Class Opportunity

Mrs. Lindsay exemplified her stand on second class opportunity with an incident that happened to one of her relatives. The relative, she said, wanted to be a bricklayer in Milwaukee, but was unable to get an apprenticeship.

In trying to get an apprenticeship, she said, she was told to turn to Page 4, Col. 4.

Board Okays Land-Buying Policy Change

Proposal Approves Land Purchases Only if Necessary

A revised policy which would have the city buying land for street, sewer and other rights-of-way when "absolutely necessary" was approved jointly Tuesday by the plan commission and board of public works.

The recommendation will go to the common council tonight for study and possible adoption in two weeks.

The city has had no clear-cut policy concerning land acquisition although some purchases have been made in the past.

It was felt by aldermen and city plan commissioners that there are some instances in which property owners may not be required to deed land to the city because of valid reasons.

Discuss Policy

The members of the municipal bodies discussed the proposed policy for an hour before agreeing to make the joint report to the council.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues and City Planner Walter Rasmussen, at the request of the board and commission, prepared a suggested procedure for land acquisitions according to a priority system.

It was agreed no lands would be acquired for rights-of-way unless incorporated onto the official map of the City of Appleton.

Utility easements necessary for the construction of underground utilities would be exempt from the map provision.

The procedure for acquiring easements or rights-of-way would be as follows:

—Any alderman may submit a resolution to the council containing a statement of purpose for acquiring a specific right-of-way and a request that a joint meeting of the board of public works and plan commission be held to determine a priority rating for the proposal.

Priority Rating

—The board and commission would make a priority rating determination in accordance with a two-page schedule and report their recommendation in resolution form to the council.

—The council after adopting a recommendation could order the proper agency to start acquisition proceedings.

The schedule contains three priority categories and six steps which the board and commission can use as a guideline in determining the feasibility of acquiring a certain piece of property.

Aldermen made it clear Tuesday that while they were recommending the policy to the council "to let it have the final say," they did not want to leave anyone to believe the city will get into the land-buying business for municipal projects.

The policy would be put into effect only for isolated instances, such as purchase of property for the Franklin-Washington street extension, officials said.

Revenue Office Calm With Deadline Near

It may have been the calm before the storm.

At 11 a.m. today, Internal Revenue Service agents in the Appleton office paused for a smoke and surveyed an empty office.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing 1963 federal income tax returns. And the IRS men expected an onslaught of "last minute" taxpayers this afternoon.

They have been receiving about 200 phone calls and 200 visitors with tax questions on recent Mondays. Other days of the week the agents are in the field and not available to give assistance to taxpayers.

Technical Questions

Last minute questions have been more technical than usual this year, the agents report. "I don't understand why people with difficulties don't start working on their reports Jan.

Alderman Slaps Rebuilding Project on Memorial Drive

Invalids Have 12 Days to Find Home

An Appleton family including two adults in wheel chairs has 12 days in which to find a home before they will be evicted by a court order.

The family must vacate the home at 1053 E. Woodland Ave. before April 27. An eviction notice was signed last month by Judge Raymond P. Dohr. County Sheriff Calvin Spice has until April 27 to serve the notice. He must return the notice to the court on that date.

The family has been forced to move from the home after city council action condemned the dwelling. Besides the two adults in wheel chairs, there are five other members of the family.

County welfare workers today said they have been unsuccessful in finding a home or room for the family since their present home was condemned. The family receives a portion of income from county welfare rolls.

Alfred Eggert, welfare director, said both his department and the family have been seeking new quarters, but at the present there are no definite plans for the family to move.

Ponath Slaps Reynolds View

Outagamie Counsel Protests Governor's Blast With Letter

Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath has joined a growing list of letter writers who have protested Gov. John Reynolds blast of county traffic patrolmen.

In a letter sent Tuesday, Ponath said he has worked with patrolmen in Outagamie County and found "that they are dedicated men."

Ponath stated "it appears you use the term lousy in referring to county traffic patrol. Do you intend to include the county traffic officers of every county? Is it your intention to make a clean sweep of all county traffic patrolmen?"

"I challenge you to prove that there is anything wrong with the Outagamie County Traffic Patrol. And if you do not prove it, then perhaps an apology is in order."

Ponath, as corporation counsel, prosecutes or processes each county patrol arrest in the county courts.

Earlier Capt. Ronald Decker of the county patrol and Sheriff Calvin Spice sent letters of protest to Gov. Reynolds who allegedly made the statement detrimental to county patrol last Friday in Milwaukee as he announced his plans to introduce new highway legislation.

Ald. R. P. Groh Says Street Work Unnecessary, Attacks Assessing

Strong opposition to charging the Memorial Drive - Prospect Avenue intersection, which will require the purchase of five small pieces of property, the largest a strip off what is known as the old Pierce property at the southeast corner of the intersection.

Groh made his objection at a meeting of the board of public works. The project is in his ward.

The city, receiving state and federal aids covering 85 per cent of the total cost, plans to reconstruct Badger Avenue, and South Memorial Drive from Lawrence Street to the bridge this summer.

Included will be widening of the intersection.

Blacktop Avenue

Badger Avenue will be blacktopped, and South Memorial Drive intersection will have all concrete pavement and sidewalks constructed.

Special assessment rates recommended for the Badger Avenue-Memorial Drive work are $7.98 per foot for business property and $5.19 for residential.

The intersection will be torn up, widened and paved. The gas and telephone companies also will install new underground utilities when the street is ripped up.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said city records showed people on Memorial Drive never paid a special assessment in the past.

Groh objected to the proposed assessments and said "good sidewalks are going to be torn up and replaced."

He was told when Richmond Street and Wisconsin Avenue were paved, special assessments were levied against property owners.

However, the board said it would be willing to make an exception and not require property owners to pay for the new sidewalk. It then recommended the city pick up the $20,000 tab for sidewalk construction, and that property owners not be assessed for walks.

Protests Project

"I object to this whole project and assessment policy," Groh told the board. He said Memorial Drive now had four storage (traffic) lanes, prompting Ald. Gerald Wagner (18th) to remark, "Yah, sometimes."

Groh wanted to know if parking would be permitted on Memorial Drive after the street was widened, noting it is now prohibited.

Bues said state highway department engineers anticipated that once the street was rebuilt, no parking would be permitted and the thoroughfare would be used "strictly for traffic."

Groh took the position that others in the city, not the property owners, would benefit by the improvement. "I cannot agree that Memorial Drive needs widening," Groh said.

Widening of the intersection was approved last year by the council and the project was delayed while a determination was made as to whether the city could obtain state - federal aid.

Construction will start in June, forcing the closing of the Memorial Drive bridge for a month.

Hanson Asks Another Look At Red China

State Democratic Chairman Addresses
Lawrence Group

Another look at recognizing Red China "without the burdens of 15-year-old thinking" was called for Tuesday night by State Democratic Party Chairman Louis Hanson who spoke at a meeting of Young Democrats at Lawrence College.

Hanson said the recognition of Red China "is another example of something that was done years ago and is affecting our current policies."

Hanson said as liberals, Democrats should recognize "changes that are being brought about in Russia by Russians themselves." He pointed to what he termed a "beginning of democracy" in some Khrushchev policies "in which he is giving things to people and not imposing on people." He cited the Khrushchev regime as "the first in a long time in Russian history where the people are being considered."

Wheat Deal

Hanson cited the current wheat negotiations as another example of how Russian living is changing. He said Khrushchev has agreed to tell its people where the wheat is coming from and to explain to the people that purchase of wheat is necessary "because his way of agriculture has failed."

The party chairman said the main difference between the Democratic Party and the Republican Party is that Democrats recognize the value of human rights before property rights. He said this philosophy is proper for most progressive thinking people.

He called for quick action on a state housing law, first, he said, because it is a moral issue and no person should be denied the right to rent or purchase a home where he pleases, and second, because without a proper housing bill, ghettos form of races or creeds who are forced to live in "boxed off areas" which quickly become over crowded and have to expand.

Current Practices

Hanson said current "real estate practices" in the state "separate Americans from Americans."

Since Democrats have come into power after 1948, Hanson said progress has been made by the state in such areas as welfare, conservation, regional planning and education. He said previous governments were a "cavalier" government in which the taxes were collected "and merely handed back to communities for their use."

Hanson said state governments "must do for people what they are not able to do for themselves."

School Board Studies Proposed Land Sale

Citizen Offers Kaukauna Property
For $6,000 for Future Expansion

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday night under- took a study of a proposal from a citizen who wants to sell a lot, almost unbearable for students and house to the school district, as the temperature often soars to more than 90 degrees.

The property is east of the high school and is one of the parcels mentioned earlier by the board as future school site. The owner asked $6,000 for the 54 by 120 foot lot and house.

Board members agreed to view the property and either accept the price or make a counter proposal.

At the same time, board members voted to request representatives of the Eagles Club attend the May 12 board meeting to discuss sale of the club for future school development.

Summer Work

Members authorized the superintendent of schools and head maintenance man to hire five summer employees to assist with various work projects at the five schools in the district. The building committee will tour schools to ascertain the extent of work which should be carried out this summer.

Approval was given to replacing light standards in two rooms at the old high school building, recovering 50 seats in the auditorium, placing a concrete floor in pipe and ventilating tunnels under an existing building, purchasing master control clocks for Park and Nicolet schools, window replacement in various schools and luck pointing for Park School.

Oshkosh Gains 5-3 Decision Over Rockets

Neenah Scores
In Sixth Inning

NEENAH — Neenah came up with three runs in the last of the sixth but darkness prevented it from getting another rap and it dropped a 5-3 decision to Oshkosh in the chilly and windy baseball opener for both clubs here Tuesday.

The contest was called at the end of six frames because of darkness.

Coach Joe Braun substituted liberally and mostly freshmen and sophomores were in the lineup when the Rockets came up with all their runs in the sixth and had the tying markers on base when the final out was made.

Norm Bauman opened the inning by drawing a walk. He was forced at second by Jim Bellin but Tim Wrase was safe on an infield error. After Gary Losse fled to short center, Tom Walkner doubled home Bellin and Wrase.

Oshkosh scored three times off Gene Loughrin in the third inning. Only the first run was earned when Bruce Erickson walked, stole second, took third on an infield out and came home on Hal Malnory's sacrifice fly.

With two out, Bill Gogolewski singled and Tom Ambrose walked. An error loaded the bases and Greg Galtier singled home Gogolewski and Ambrose. Jim Jischke fanned to end the inning.

The Indians added two runs in the sixth off Steve Clark when Malnory walked and Greg Wood slammed a drive down the third base line which got through outfielder Ed Began for a double and two-base error.

Neenah picked up two hits in the second inning but a double play erased the scoring opportunity. In the fourth, Began walked but was cut down at second base after which Gene Loughrin collected an infield hit, took second on an error and third on a passed ball. A pop foul to the catcher and strike-out left the runner at third.

Loughrin worked the first three innings for Neenah and allowed three runs, one of which was earned, walked three, hit one batter and struck out six. Dave Fischer pitched the fourth and fifth and permitted no runs, two hits, three walks and one strike out. Berrell led off the fourth with a triple off the south-paw but died on third Clark, in his lone inning, permitted two runs, one hit and had a walk and a strikeout.

Gogolewski hurled the first three frames for Oshkosh and permitted two hits and no runs. He struck out six and didn't walk anyone.

Wood worked the fourth and fifth and gave up one hit and no runs, with one walk and three strikeouts. Greg Siebold started the seventh and in two-thirds of an inning allowed three runs, three hits and one walk. He was relieved by Lynn Peterson, who had the game-ending strikeout.

The Rockets make their next start against De Pere here at 10 a.m. Saturday while Oshkosh opens Fox Valley Conference play with a doubleheader against Manitowoc.

Sentence Man For Misconduct

70-Year-Old
Accused of Giving
Beer to Boy, 4

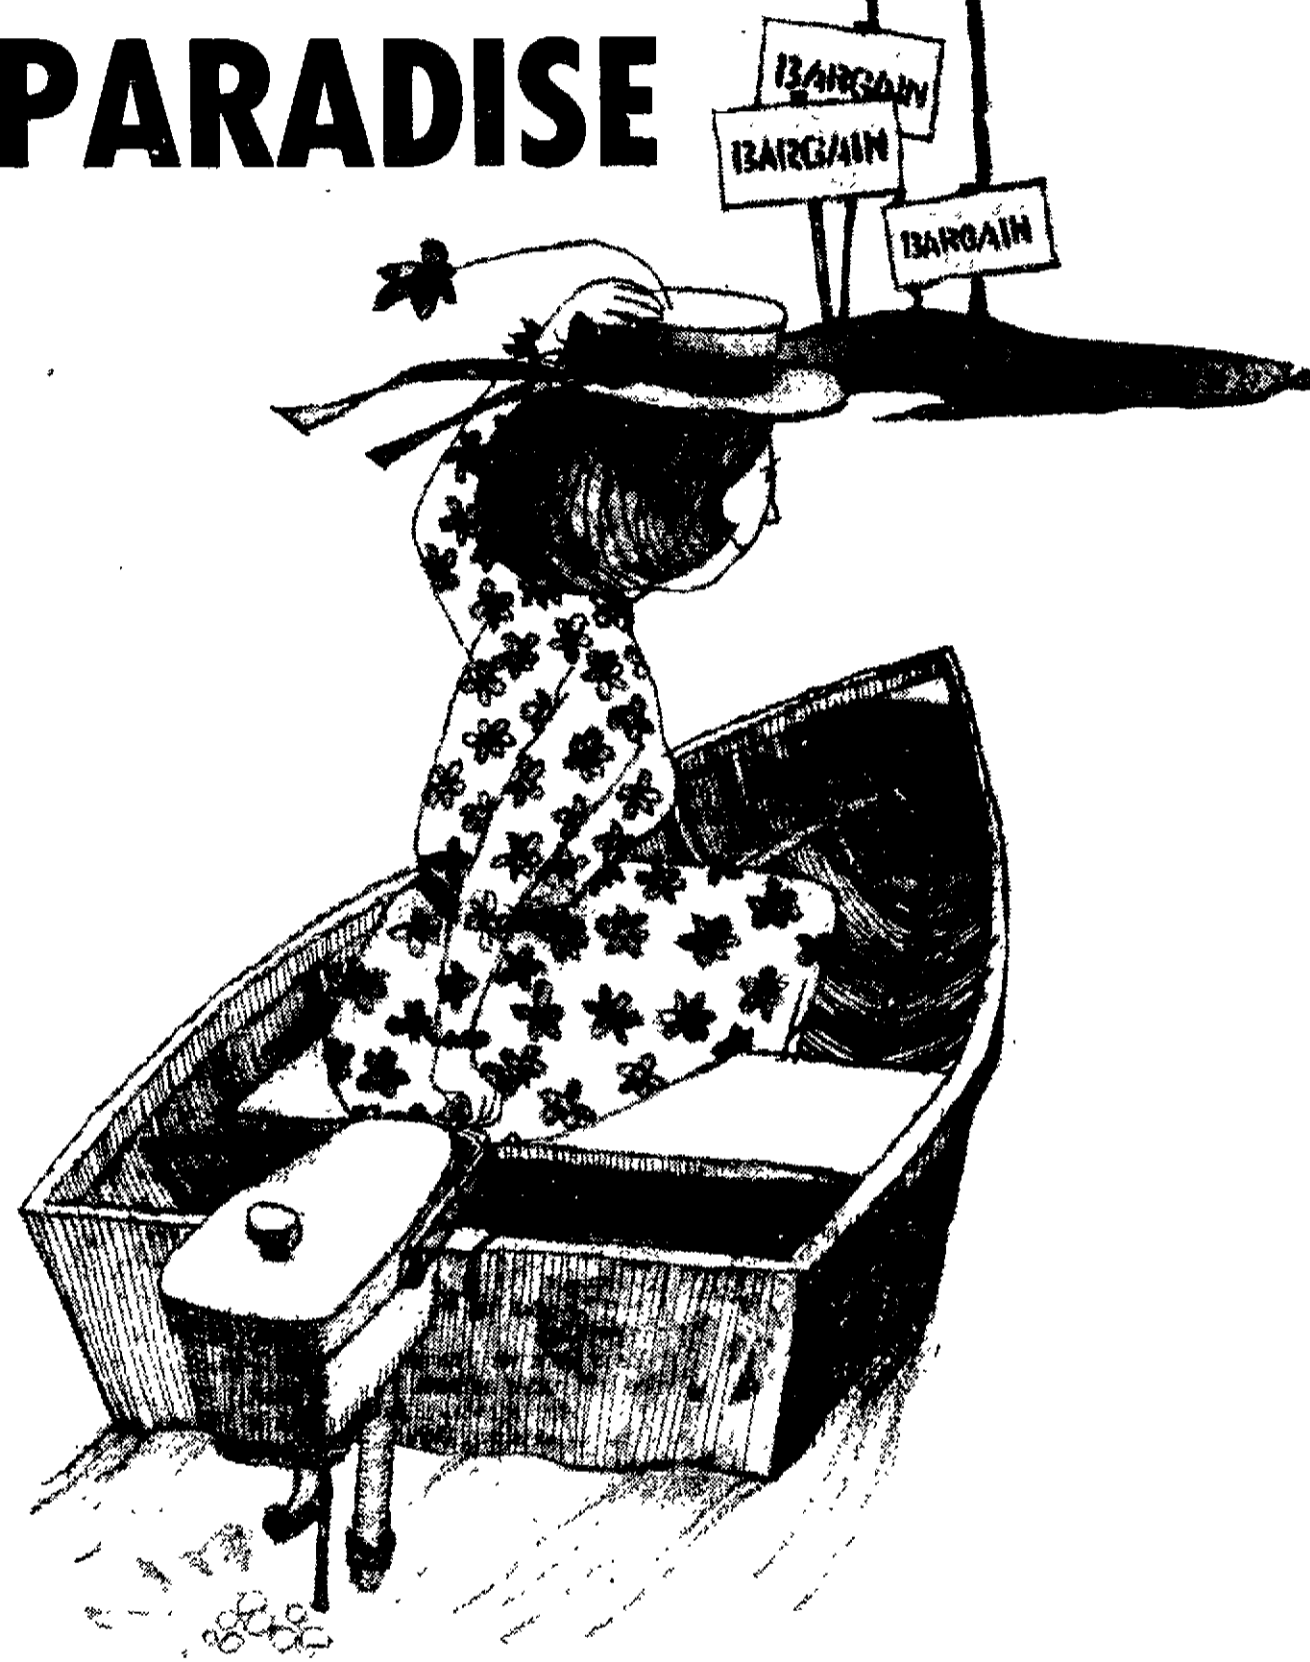

A 70-year-old Appleton man who authorities say has a record of mistreating children, he befriended a 4-year-old neighbor boy in spite of warnings by the boy's mother to leave her son alone.

The mother told police the man would leave pennies wrapped in small paper bags among the boy's toys in the garage. The man and the boy would go for walks and, according to the mother, the boy liked the man very much.

Monday police were called when the boy allegedly drank some beer from a can the man gave him. When questioned by police the boy said the man gave him some "gum and water." He identified a beer can from which he said he took the "water."

Tuesday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, Kuehn pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was sentenced to the jail term.

Final Sabin Vaccine Doses Will be Given

About 90,000 County Residents Expected To Complete Polio Immunization on Sunday

An estimated $30,000 worth of Sabin oral vaccine for Sunday's countywide polio immunization clinics was scheduled to arrive in Appleton today via North Central Airlines.

The vaccine was purchased by the Outagamie County Medical Society from a New Jersey drug manufacturer.

Dr. George Behnke, chairman of the mass immunization program which is expected to attract 90,000 residents to 10 clinic sites, said the shipment would include about 3,000 cartons containing bottles of vaccine.

From 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, residents of Outagamie County will receive their second dose of the oral vaccine. On March 28 County residents received their first dose of type I.

Types II and III
On Sunday types II and III will be given in one dose for persons. The unused portion will be donated to 25 clinics. However, those unable to pay will receive the vaccine without charge.

Dr. Behnke emphasized that all persons who received the first dose last month should get the final dose Sunday to attain full immunity against polio.

Medical authorities advise a four to six week waiting period after receiving type I.

Dr. Behnke advises anyone who may have attended a Sabin clinic in the area last Sunday not to get types II and III this Sunday.

Nearby cities and counties held anti-polio clinics last weekend, attracting residents from the county fringe areas.

Vaccine Refrigerated
Upon arrival at the Outagamie County Airport, the vaccine was to be transported to Doctors Park and put under refrigeration until this weekend.

Three-Day Run

'Freud' Is Well Made Film of Scientist's Life

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An instructive, beautifully acted and expertly directed film, based on the early years of Sigmund Freud's medical career, has been brought to the screen of the Viking Theater for a three-day run.

"Freud, the Secret Passion," a Universal-International production directed by the renowned John Houston, features Montgomery Clift as the bearded Viennese practitioner and Susannah York as the patient whose traumatic disclosures led him to develop his theory of infantile sexuality.

Although "Freud" cannot qualify as mass entertainment, as its specialized advertising campaign tacitly admits, it is nevertheless a well-made and engrossing film worthy of greater attendance than was evident at the Viking Tuesday night.

Simple Form
For one thing, it presents, in simplified yet dramatically effective form, Freud's basic theories of human behavior, and traces their birth through the pivotal cases which constituted his pioneering work in psychoanalysis.

For another, it is successful by means of an excellent performance by Montgomery Clift in humanizing the highly intellectual Dr. Freud, and in presenting his struggles on an emotional as well as theoretical plane.

As the "hysteric" who regains her ability to walk after Dr. Freud has dredged up the hidden causes from her subconscious mind, Susannah York offers a beguiling, yet persuasive, characterization.

Since completing "Freud," Miss York has gained international attention as Albert Finney's leading lady in the Motion picture Academy's best film of the year, "Tom Jones."

Larry Parks
Freud's sympathetic colleague, Dr. Joseph Breuer, is portrayed capably by former song- and -dance man Larry Parks, in a welcome return to the screen.

The production, filmed in Austria on the actual scene of Freud's delvings into the human subconscious, is unpretentious and has an air of authenticity.

Viewers who attended "The Cardinal," for which Houston received an Academy Award nomination for his portrayal of Archbishop Cardinal Glennon, will recognize Houston's voice as the narrator on the sound track.

This film was obviously a labor of love for Clift, Houston, Miss York and the supporting cast. It will be of special interest for Fox Cities residents who saw last summer's Attic Theatre production, "A Far Country," for it covers much of the same ground with a somewhat different emphasis.

MU Professor Hits Conspiracy Against Negro

ticeship, he worked as a hod carrier, Mrs. Lindsay said. After entering the Korean conflict and returning, he still wanted an apprenticeship. When an employer in Milwaukee agreed to give him an apprenticeship, the union wouldn't accept a Negro apprentice, she said. "He finally got his apprenticeship — at Tuskegee — in Alabama — Wallace's state," Mrs. Lindsay said.

Mrs. Lindsay said Negroes as well as whites have fought for our country, and the Negroes didn't fight to keep it free for whites, they fought to keep it free for everyone.

Commissioner J. Richard Long, Beloit attorney, used his community as an example of progress in human relations. He said Negroes began moving to Beloit in 1941 to work for Fairbanks Morse in the foundries. In 1950, the Beloit council passed human rights ordinances, he said.

Negro Opportunities
Long said Beloit's population today is 8 to 9 per cent Negro. He said human rights workers had pulled the Negroes in the city out of confinement to the foundries, and "we now have Negroes working as teachers, policemen, firemen, city employees and in all phases of business."

Long said he thought the Beloit commission had done an excellent job. "We now have more employment opportunities for skilled Negroes than we have skilled Negroes," he said.

Both Long and Mrs. Willard Downing, Milwaukee, commissioner and former commission secretary, advocated initial work in formation of human rights citizens groups in the Fox Valley areas. Marshall Colston, Madison NAACP president and commissioner, said interested valley residents could consider formation of a local NAACP chapter.

In a brief question and answer session, a Xavier High student asked how the group proposed to legislate love. Long replied that rights were being legislated, not love. "When I stop at a hotel and ask for a room, I don't care if the clerk loves me, I just want him to rent me a room, like anyone else," Long said.

The Rev. Perry Saito, Stevens Point, also a commissioner, moderated the panel.

Seek Cause of Siren Blast During Storm

CD Director Says Cables to Medina, Dale, Hortonville, New London Are Underground

Civil Defense Director Lee Penney today said telephone company workers are attempting to determine how Civil Defense sirens roused four communities to an unscheduled alert Tuesday morning.

Penney said the malfunction couldn't have come at a more undesirable time. Community residents assumed the sirens were warning of a special weather alert. High winds were reported in each of the four communities where the sirens are located.

Telephone company employees are checking a trunk line which connects the sirens in Medina, Dale, New London and Hortonville. All the wiring to the sirens is underground and would not be affected by the high winds.

Teletype Security
Penney said the Civil Defense wiring has the same security as regular teletype wiring.

Shortly after the sirens began sounding about 10 a.m., the county sheriff's department and local Civil Defense authorities were swamped with telephone calls asking if the sirens indicated an emergency weather condition.

The sirens were disconnected by community Civil Defense authorities after it was determined no emergency existed. Penney said he expected the sirens to be in working order sometime today.

He said if an emergency did exist, information would have been relayed to residents over local radio stations and residents would be reminded not to use telephones to call for information.

Grand Chute Firemen Fight 2 Fires Tuesday, One Outside of Town

Town of Grand Chute firemen answered two calls Tuesday, one in the Town of Greenville because of disrupted phone communications to Hortonville.

At 12:45 p.m. a run was made to the Gordon Johnson home, 2608 N. Bennett St., where an upstairs bedroom floor fire caused by defective wiring was extinguished.

At 7:15 p.m. the department received a call from the Edward Frahm residence, 1129 S. Mayflower Drive, because of inability to report a grass fire to the Hortonville authorities. The fire was extinguished with no property damage.

Repair of the damaged phone cable affecting calls from Greenville to Hortonville was completed about 2 a.m. today.

Youth's Action Saves Boats From Damage

FREMONT—Action of a high school youth Monday night prevented possible destruction of several cruisers moored at the Wolf River Marina at Tustin.

Hurricane-force winds destroyed the marina, owned by Jack Boyson.

The youth, Mike Boyles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boyles of the Orihula Resort, anticipated the damage wind would do the marina. He headed up the Wolf River by boat to the marina canals, and upon seeing the damage, returned for help.

He returned with his father, Franklin Dane and William Oestrich. They anchored a 25-foot cruiser owned by David Schmidt, New London, along with other boats in a shelter about four miles south of here.

When they arrived at the marina, the roof and the doors already had been blown away by the strong wind.

Later in the evening, the entire 30-stall metal marina, about 400 feet long, was blown away by the wind, leaving only tangled wreckage.

Employment Data to be Gathered in Census

Facts on employment and unemployment will be collected in the U.S. Census Bureau's current population survey next week.

Information gathered will be combined with that from 356 other sample areas in the country to obtain national estimates of the April employment situation.

Census Bureau interviewers who will visit selected households in April are Melinda Jones, 207 N. Drew St. and Ann P. Roelofs, 302 E. Lawrence St.

Each Service Is Better Than Brother Branch in Some Ways

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Now that the young man is thinking seriously — as he should — about the possibility of being drafted into the armed forces, he should discuss the various possibilities with his father.

He will perhaps wish to fulfill his obligation and his duty to his country at a date early enough so that he will be relatively free to throw himself wholeheartedly into his civilian career. It means that he must design his plans so that his period of active, full-time duty is finished when he is ready to begin his life's work.

If he chooses to take on the duty at the earliest possible time, he certainly will consider joining one of the armed forces reserve groups. He may do so while still in high school, if he has reached the age of 17. For this, he requires parental permission.

All the services have reserve programs. The recruiting officers and non-commissioned officers will proudly proclaim their own as "best" and it is well that they should.

In general terms, however, each service has some elements which make it better — in one way or another — than its brother service.

Navy men will exclaim over the educational facilities, the travel and the opportunities for advancement. Marines will proudly identify the corps as "elite" and they will speak manfully and courageously about being the first to see action. They will point to esprit de corps and to pride.

This is the fourth in a series of articles on the armed forces and the choices open to young men facing the draft.

Spokesmen for the National Guard say that their units are larger, that they offer wider opportunities for friendships, that the units stay together and have and board, etc.) Pay raises come in two year "blocks." A 2nd lieutenant is paid $7.41 per day, plus additional pay allowances for quarters and subsistence. Retirement schedules among all the services are similar.

Many servicemen enter early (age 17, for example) and retire with a retirement income at the age of 37. A serviceman (an O-5, for example) could attain the age of 60, with more than 20 years of service, and receive about $155 retirement pay per month.

Personal Preference

Personal preference, career opportunities and perhaps local situations are the bases for most decisions on which service to join. Advice on that score cannot and should not be given in this series.

All Men Differ

All men are different, however; and what may be considered a superb service by one young man can well be anathema to another. But each undoubtedly has advantages over its fellow service. In the bluntest of generalities — it all depends.

The services have pay scales which are virtually the same. Thus, monetary rewards should make no difference in whether a young man wishes to be, for example, a Marine or a soldier. (A private earns $2.57 per day with most of his needs provided, including uniforms, room stations in Appleton for the U.S. Marine Corps (RE 4-4243), for the U.S. Navy (RE 4-7940), for the U.S. Air Force (RE 4-7020) and for the Army (RE 3-3883) and in Menasha (PA 2-6791).

Nearby Stations

Most of the armed forces have stations in nearby sizeable cities.

Some will thoroughly consider becoming a career serviceman. If so, he must carefully consider the possibility of advancing in rank and the acquisition of a commission. Commissions are not given indiscriminately; they must be both won and deserved. An officer should be a superior man.

Said John Paul Jones of a Naval officer: "He should be the soul of tact, patience, justice, firmness and charity. . ."

How does one become an officer? Education is a prime basis. Some, with ROTC or NOTC training in college readily win commissions.

Graduates of the great schools for services become officers upon graduation.

Attend School

Enlisted men may win commissions by attending and finishing Officer Candidate School. The Navy will train a college graduate or a superior Navy enlisted man in a 16-week course in Naval Science. Winning the commission, (Ensign in the Naval Reserve) he must agree to serve three years of active duty. If he desires, he may subsequently apply for a commission in the regular Navy. Navy officer candidates are trained at Newport, R. I.

Coast Guardsmen train for a commission at Yorktown, Va. If equipped with proper academic credits or experience, a commission as ensign may be won in the regular Coast Guard.

Training period for OCS: 17 weeks. An Ensign with dependents earns $4,268 per year, of which $1,600 is tax exempt. Almost 25 per cent of the commissioned officers in the Coast Guard have come up through the ranks.

To qualify for Army OCS, the young man must be either a warrant officer, or an enlisted man in the Regular Army, Army Reserve or the National Guard. He must have at least a high school diploma or its equivalent in training.

OSC Training

The OCS training period in the Army is 23 weeks and the commission as 2nd lieutenant is given in the Reserves. If the training period is successfully finished, the new officer will be required to serve either (a) six months active duty or (b) a period equal to the unexpired portion of his draft-obligated service, whichever is greater.

The Air Force officer training school, the candidate must have a college degree (college seniors may apply 135 days before graduation). The training period is three months and the graduate must serve for four years.

Those young men wishing flying training must not be more than 26½ years of age at the time of application.

Marine Corps officer candidates (ground or aviation) must be a college-trained man aged from 20 to 26. On completion of the 10-week training course, a commission as 2nd lieutenant, Marine Corps Reserves is granted. The new officer is obliged to serve three years on active duty.

Michigan Lake Level Record Low

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Lake Michigan's water level dropped to 575.35 feet in March, a new record low in 104 years of the great inland sea's history.

This is the fourth consecutive month of record low levels on Lake Michigan, according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers lake survey, Detroit.

Before this year, the previous all-time low water experienced on the lake was 575.45 feet set in February, 1926. The record high water mark is 581.9 feet established in June, 1886.

The March level of 575.35 feet, the new extreme low, is 10 inches below a year ago and 25 inches below the 10-year average level for the end of March.

"The major cause of the low water level is just a lack of precipitation," according to F. W. Townsend, chief of the hydraulics and hydrology branch of the lake survey office.

The lake survey forecast shows that the Lake Michigan levels reached their seasonal low during March and will rise about four inches during April to 575.84 feet at the end of the month. The forecast rise is normal for April.

However, army engineers warned that Lake Michigan will continue to experience levels for the next six months close to or lower than the previous extreme low levels for each month.

Many Think Lodge Primary Victories Will Not Suffice

GOP Leaders Believe He Must Personally Enter Campaign

BY JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Influential Republicans of all shades of opinion believe primary victories will not be enough and Henry Cabot Lodge must campaign personally if he wants to try to win the GOP presidential nomination.

A cross-section survey of party members who will have a voice in the choice of a nominee disclosed nearly unanimous opinion that the current boom for Lodge will flatten out if he remains as U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam until convention time.

Lodge has said he isn't a candidate for the nomination and can't participate in politics while he serves as ambassador. President Johnson said last week that Lodge is playing a "very constructive role" in Viet Nam and is under no pressure to resign.

Lodge Resignation
Irving Salomon, a close adviser, reported after talking to the ambassador on a recent Far Eastern trip he can't say whether Lodge will resign by June, "but he cannot ethically be an ambassador and be involved in politics."

Lodge's current front-running status in national polls and his prospect of topping other candidates in the May 15 Oregon primary are attributed to various factors. One often mentioned is that of voter dissatisfaction with other presidential aspirants.

The surge for Lodge also is credited to his experience in the foreign affairs field, his remembered television image as a tough opponent of communism as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and his lack of involvement in current GOP bickering over conservative and moderate views.

Viet Nam Policies
Listed Lodge liabilities include his tie to President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam, his defeats for the Senate in 1952 and for vice president in 1960 and what many thought was his lackadaisical campaigning in 1960.

Medical Schools Criticized for Teaching Methods

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The new president of the American Academy of General Practice criticized medical schools today, saying many of them "do not know how to produce a general practitioner."

"Students coming out of the medical schools have not been taught basic medical knowledge," said Dr. Julius Michaelson of Foley, Ala. in an interview. "Too many of the schools are preoccupied with specialization and research work."

"The boys coming out of the schools have very little practical knowledge."

Dr. Michaelson will be installed as president of the academy tonight, succeeding Dr. Albert E. Ripp of St. Paul, Minn.

York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller regard it as inconceivable that Lodge could win the nomination from Saigon. They believe his popularity would nose dive if he came home and subjected himself to questioning on the issues of the day.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., named to head the platform committee for the July convention in San Francisco, said he thinks Lodge will have to come home by May 15 if he expects to be the nominee.

"Anyone who discounts Lodge's chances of getting the nomination isn't assessing the situation carefully," said the Marshfield, Wis., lawmaker, who isn't committed to any candidate. "There is a well organized drive for him but if he isn't home by May 15 it could collapse quickly."

Laird said he thinks avowed contenders for the nomination have suffered from "over-exposure" in the long primary campaigning that stretches from January to June, and voters may be tiring of them.

Organized Drive
A former Republican national chairman, who didn't want to be quoted by name, summed up Lodge's appeal this way: "This is the guy who is least undesirable to the voters at this point. They are disenchanted with everybody else."

But he added: "Lodge is not another Eisenhower. He is going to have to come home and answer questions on where he stands if he expects to get the nomination. He's also going to have to show he can take the pace of vigorous presidential campaigning."

To Your Good Health

High Blood Pressure Does Not Dictate a Diet

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What foods should be eaten by a person with high blood pressure?—E. E. Y.

Your question, madam, is an example of a foolish circle. Not a vicious circle, but a foolish one that we have passed through.

In the last few decades we have come to understand the meaning of a "balanced diet" fairly well.

Good diet is important. Make no mistake about that. But some people have assumed that there must be a special diet for every disease. This isn't so.

Diet—beyond eating a normal, healthful one—is rarely important in cases of high blood pressure, with two exceptions.

First, the overweight patient with high blood pressure should lose some pounds. Often as little as five or 10 lost pounds will make an appreciable difference. But there isn't any "list of foods" for reducing. Just eat less of everything, and avoid fats.

Second, some people with high blood pressure are getting too much salt. This can be from overuse at the table or in cooking, or eating salty foods (peanuts, potato chips, preserved meats, etc.) It can even be from taking bicarbonate of soda or fizzy pain-killers. This is sodium, however, and it "binds" or holds water in the body to an excessive degree, therefore aggravating high blood pressure.

"Salt-free diet" isn't a true term. It should be "low-salt diet" or "low-sodium diet," because nobody can get along without any sodium. There is "natural salt" in most of the foods we eat. So we are bound to get at least some traces.

If salt is reduced too drastically, the patient may suffer from weakness or nausea. This occurs more often in the summer when the body is losing fat through perspiration.

So if you are overweight, or if you are told to restrict salt, those are the ways in which diet will be important.

Dr. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read so much about "natural childbirth." Would it have been possible for me? My first and only child was a breech delivery. He weighed nine pounds.—MRS. B. S.

The breech delivery happens about seven times among every 200 babies. With a breech delivery plus a large baby, you would have required an anesthetic. No, "natural childbirth" would not have been possible, at least not with any reasonable degree of safety.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 74 and in excellent health so far as I know. I have weighed 126 for 20 years, but in the last few months I have lost eight pounds. I have a splendid appetite, eat nourishing food and am still very active and in the business world. Could this loss of weight be due to age only, or could it come from some internal condition?—F. P. B.

Village Heart Fund Drive Exceeds Quota

It can be either. I have known it to happen in people your age and the most careful examination did not show anything wrong. Just age—for whatever reasons age may cause it. Your good appetite and activity argues against any serious internal ailment.

Again, however, an overactive thyroid can create such a condition.

Don't be alarmed, but for your peace of mind see your physician to check on this possibility, and have a blood count and a general physical look-see.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Spending of Pay Boost By Tax Cut Undetected

Official Statistics Show No Added Spending and Merchants Not Sure

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Boosts in take-home pay from the federal income tax cut haven't shown up in retail sales as quickly as expected. Or have they? The official figures say no. But this time the statistics are even more complicated than usual and more subject to tricky interpretations.

Bankers suspect many citizens just added to their savings in March while deciding what to do with the windfall that began showing up in pay checks. Others think the approaching income tax settlement deadline was a deterrent to spending.

Merchants aren't sure. They point out that the official figures of the Department of Commerce showing a drop in retail sales from February had to be adjusted this March to seasonal part of the story.

February Spending
Others think that comparisons with February spending are further complicated by that month's most unusual shopping day pattern (five Saturdays) and by a possible psychological quirk of consumers who spent more than usual this February because of the expected take-home pay increases.

The Department of Commerce says that seasonally adjusted the March retail store sales were $21.1 billion, down 1 percent from the February record. This still put March 4 percent ahead of a year ago, but many had expected greater things of the month this time.

An early Easter may have affected the drop the Commerce Department reports in sales of apparel and department stores. But it may have had less connection with the drop of 4 percent in the volume of durable goods, with automotive and lumber and building materials dealers accounting for most of this. Larger sales by food stores were the brightest feature of March.

Take-Home Pay
Perhaps some merchants were counting too much on the stimulus of more take-home pay. Bankers note that in the

Vocational Schools To Sponsor Drywall Preparation Institute

The Fox Cities vocational and adult schools will sponsor an institute on drywall preparation and finishing Monday in the Appleton Vocational School.

The institute is open free to journeymen, apprentices and contractors engaged in the preparation and finishing of drywall. It will meet from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Robert Nickles, drywall specialist for Wisconsin and Upper Michigan for the United States Gypsum Co., and Robert Schmidt, paint representative specialist in surface application on drywall, will present the program.

The institute will include a demonstration of drywall finishing and discussion of proper application techniques and new and proper drywall products.

Koufax Picks Up Where He Left Off, Blanks Cardinals

Frank Howard Slams Homer; Cubs Win, 8-4

BY MIKE RATHET

When Sandy Koufax was interrupted last fall...

That's right, the Dodgers dandy took up Tuesday night where he left off last season, turning in one of his shutout specialties as Los Angeles opened defense of its National League championship by whipping St. Louis 4-0.

There were 50,451 in Dodger Stadium — the largest of the opening day crowds—when Koufax began to whip an assortment of fast balls and curves out of his effortless motion. And when it was over, he had fittingly pitched the first shutout in the National League.

Koufax, a 25-game winner last year with 11 shutouts marked alongside his name, allowed the Cardinals only six hits, struck out five and walked none while winning his eighth consecutive game and recording his 18th victory in the last 20 regular season decisions.

Shares Spotlight
But the 1963 World Series hero had to share some of the spotlight with towering Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant player. The Dodgers' main power-provider, Howard proved it by tagging a 420-foot, two-run homer that capped the victory.

In other NL openers, Willie Mays collected two of San Francisco's five homers in an 8-4 walloping of Milwaukee, Roy Sievers' three-run homer powered Philadelphia to a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets and Billy Williams' two-run homer in the 10th inning led the Chicago Cubs to an 8-4 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Houston and Cincinnati, who opened play Monday, were not scheduled.

Koufax extended his shutout string against the Cardinals to

Detroit Evens Playoff Series

Red Wings Edge Maple Leafs, 4-3, In Sudden Death

TORONTO (AP)—The official count showed that 14,017 fans saw the Detroit Red Wings beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 Tuesday night to tie their National Hockey League Stanley Cup final at a game each.

As far as Coach Punch Imlach of Toronto is concerned, there were 14,028 spectators. "Our Cleveland forwards might just as well have been spectators the way they stood around out there practically all night," the unhappy Imlach said in the Leafs' dressing room.

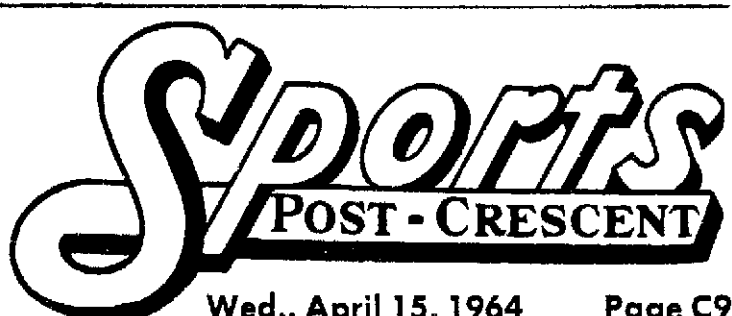

Brilliant Goal
Toronto, seeking its third straight Stanley Cup, trailed 3-1 going into the third period but finally tied things at 3-3 on a brilliant goal by Gerry Ehman with just 46 seconds of play left.

The Leafs, who won the opener 3-2 on a goal in the final two seconds, had visions of another such performance Tuesday. But, the Wings practically ran them out of the rink in the sudden-death overtime period.

Toronto veteran goalie Johnny Bower had a terrific night, kicking out 45 shots. He turned seven of them aside in the sudden-death period before Larry Jeffrey took a perfect pass from Gordie Howe to slam home the winner at 7:51.

Detroit's goalie, Terry Sawchuk, had only one stop in the overtime session, that a routine try, and 26 for the night.

The best-of-seven series now shifts to Detroit for games No. 3 and 4 Thursday and Saturday nights.

Roger Sorenson Will Rejoin Foxes for '64

DeMars to Receive Remainder of Roster This Week

Roger Sorenson, who spent the first half of the 1963 season with the Fox Cities Foxes, has been assigned to the club for 1964.

The Lynwood, Calif. slugger came into Fox Cities with a reputation as a long ball hitter, but never developed and was hitting only 169 in 48 games before being transferred to Stockton in

Umbricht's Ashes Scattered Over Colt Stadium

HOUSTON (AP)—The ashes of Jim Umbricht, the Houston Colt pitcher who died a week ago of cancer, have been scattered over Colt Stadium, an area he loved.

Umbricht was a right-handed relief pitcher for the National League Colts. Funeral services were held Friday and the body cremated.

The ashes were scattered over the baseball field from a small plane Saturday, but this was not revealed until Tuesday by Colt officials.

"Jim's family wanted no advance publicity about the disposition of the ashes," a Colt official explained.

Giants' Scout Claims Hendley 'Can't Throw Hard'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' Warren Spahn had a straight away answer that included two reasons for his defeat by the San Francisco Giants in Tuesday's season opener.

The veteran left-hander was battered for eight hits, three of them home runs, as the Giants pounded out an 8-4 victory.

"My screwball (screwball) wasn't good and my control was off," said Spahn.

Two of the Giants' five home runs were by Willie Mays, who clubbed Spahn for both of them. Spahn said Mays' second homer never should have been.

"Mays wasn't supposed to swing at the ball in the eighth," Spahn said. "It was about six inches outside, but he reached out and tapped it over the fence." That was the tap that sent Spahn to the showers.

Agrees With Spahn
Manager Bobby Bragan agreed with Spahn's diagnosis and added, "You can't be behind on the hitters on the ball and strike counts all day and hope to be effective."

"Spahn's screwball was wide of the plate and his slider came in high and inside," Bragan continued. "So, then he had to try the California League. The improvement was little at Stockton and Sorenson finished the season with .186 in 35 games. Roger was originally signed for a rather large bonus with his brother Dick, by the Minnesota Twins in 1962.

Manager Billy DeMars reports that Sorenson has returned to the form he displayed last spring and is happy with the assignment.

The Foxes will receive the remainder of their 1964 roster later this week. The team will break camp Monday morning, and the players must be here by Wednesday night.

Manager Billy DeMars is slated to leave camp Friday and make a brief stop at his home in Rochester, N.Y., before coming on to the Fox Cities Wednesday.

Doctors Say They're Pleased With Results Of Hutchinson's Tests

SEATTLE (AP)—Fred Hutchinson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, left for Los Angeles Tuesday night after undergoing examinations for a cancerous growth at the Swedish Hospital's Tumor Institute.

Examining doctors said they were "very pleased" with the results of the tests and that no further examinations would be required until June.

Screwball, Control Off, Spahn Says After Loss and fit the ball into the strike zone, and the Giants teed off. "Five home runs in the first game must have been an opening day record," said Bragan, who could find no consolation.

The game was the first, of course, since the Braves and Giants completed their winter trade. The Braves got outfielder Felipe Alou and catcher Ed Bailey with pitchers Bob Hendley and Bob Shaw and catcher Del Crandall going to the Giants.

On paper, the Braves had the best of the bargain in the opener with Bailey and Alou each getting one of Milwaukee's seven hits.

Crandall in Bullpen
Crandall spent the afternoon in the bullpen, warming up the pitchers. Among those staving ready was Shaw, who was battered for a 6.33 earned run average in the exhibitions.

Hendley showed a 3.90 earned run mark for the spring drills, and there was information from scout Tom Sheehan that "Hendley can't throw hard."

Tuesday's victory was the sixth in seven openers in Candlestick Park for the Giants. It offset to a degree the seven victories the Braves took in nine games in San Francisco last season. The Braves are the only team with an edge over the Giants in San Francisco Milwaukee has won 70 of 125 games.

Dodgers and Cards Draw Top Crowd

Almost 800,000 fans turned out for baseball's traditional opening day games

With the meeting between the St. Louis Cardinals and the world champion Dodgers at Los Angeles drawing 50,451 Tuesday night, attendance for the nine-game program reached 291,109 with one postponed game still to go.

The Boston at New York opener was set back to today because of rain.

A Candlestick Park record of 42,894 was on hand for the Milwaukee-San Francisco game, boosting the National League total to 168,848 for five games. The American League, headed by a 40,145 crowd for the Presidential Opener at Washington Monday, drew 122,261.

The attendance for this year's nine-game program almost matched the 1963 total, when 11 games were played over the two-day period. Last year 306,565 clicked through the turnstiles.

Matty Alou Asks To be Traded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Utility outfielder Matty Alou of the San Francisco Giants says he has written owner Horace Stoneham asking to be traded.

"The Giants have too many outfielders and I want to play regularly," said the smallest of the three Alou brothers hailing from the Dominican Republic.

Matty's older brother, Felipe, was a regular with San Francisco until traded to Milwaukee last winter. Now rookie Jesus Alou, the younger brother, is getting a starting assignment.

Wulk Urges Lettermen to Be Leaders

ASU Coach Predicts Cage Positions Will Become Extinct

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

"Accept the responsibility of leadership that goes along with being a letter - winner in athletics," Ned Wulk urged youths here Tuesday noon.

The highly - successful Arizona State University basketball coach, who is a native of Marion, was the principal speaker at the Appleton Rotary Club's annual dinner for the Appleton High School basketball team in the Conway Hotel.

The attitude shown by the recipient of sports awards often indicates to the public the value of athletics, Wulk pointed out. A letter - winner's conduct in his own neighborhood or downtown constantly demonstrates whether athletics are worthwhile. Youngsters emulate athletes "and do pretty much what they do, good or bad," Wulk emphasized.

"It takes a lot of courage to stand up and say, 'this is wrong - I'm not going to do it, and I don't think you should,'" declared Wulk.

Wulk said each athlete has a stake in perpetuating the reputation of Appleton as a fine sports community.

Caldwell Selected
The ASU coach, whose teams have won or shared the Western Athletic Conference title in six of his seven years (the Sun Devils had never won a crown before that), related a number of anecdotes about his top player, Joe Caldwell. Wulk referred to Caldwell's selection on the 1964 Olympic team as "one of the finest things that ever happened to me as a coach."

Wulk characterized Caldwell as a tremendous athlete who is an all-around top-notch young man and has a good sense of humor. Caldwell can high jump 6 feet, 8½ inches and "shoots down at the basket instead of up," Wulk indicated.

Wulk said in an interview after the banquet that the Sun Devils will play another tough schedule next season, featuring

Jerry Lumpe Stars in Tigers' 7-3 Victory Over Athletics

BY HAL BOCK

The baseball season is just two days old and Charles O. Finley already has had two setbacks.

The American League torpedoed his "Pennant Porch" in Kansas City last week and the Tigers went to work on his ball club in Detroit Tuesday.

The results were the same. Municipal Stadium has half a porch and the Tigers left just about that much of the Athletic pitching staff intact after a 7-3 Opening Day victory.

Detroit's new-look Tigers were something to see but it wasn't a pleasant sight for Finley. The key executioners were Jerry Lumpe and Dave Wickelsham, who wore the Kelly green and gold Athletic uniforms a year ago.

Came Out Ahead
Finley swapped Lumpe, an infielder, and pitchers Wickelsham and Ed Rakow for slugger Rocky Colavito and hurler Bob Anderson during the winter and off the first day's results, the Tigers came out way ahead.

Lumpe stroked a single, double and triple as the Tigers punished three Kansas City pitchers.

Spahn Loses; Sadowski to Hurl Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves had one major goal today—find a way to sap the slugging power of the San Francisco Giants.

The Giants crashed five home runs, a pair of them by Willie Mays, in defeating the Braves 8-4 in Tuesday's season opener before a record Candlestick Park throng of 42,894.

Both starting pitchers — Milwaukee veteran southpaw Warren Spahn and San Francisco right-hander Juan Marichal—were shaky at the start. The Braves took an early lead, but Marichal and the Giants settled down to come from behind for the victory. The Braves trailed 6-4 when Spahn was lifted in the eighth.

Young Bob Sadowski was nominated by Manager Bobby Bragan to attempt to control the Giants in tonight's game. Jack Sanford was the San Francisco choice.

Collect 7 Hits
The Braves collected seven hits off Marichal. The Giants got 10 at the expense of Spahn and reliever Hank Fischer. Spahn allowed eight hits, including three of the Giants homers, and both by Mays. Both hits off Fischer were home runs. Spahn fanned three and walked two.

Marichal gave up four walks and posted four strikeouts. The Braves started the scoring in the first when Hank Aaron singled with two out and stole second before Ed Mathews walked. Joe Torre's single scored Aaron.

A single by Orlando Cepeda and a home run by rookie Jim Hart put the Giants ahead in the second, but Milwaukee came back for three runs and the lead in the third.

Felipe Alou was safe on an error and got to third on a single by Lee Maye who was out trying to stretch the hit to a double. After Aaron walked, Alou scored on a balk by Marichal.

An out and a walk for Torre brought Ed Bailey to the plate. His long drive to left center fell for a double, scoring Aaron and Torre. Frank Bolling got to first on an error before Roy McMillan was called out on strikes.

Marichal was the master after this, allowing only two hits in the last five innings. The Giants tied the score in their share of the third on a

Some Walleyes Start to Move

Gill's Landing Plagued By Shortage of Fish

BY DICK McDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GILL'S LANDING — Watching the Wolf River from this vantage point is like attending a wake in reverse. Things are dead now, but a good run of walleyes could liven up the area.

While there is an abundance of fishermen and a shortage of fish, things could be looking better in the near future. This, however, is only a calculated guess, as most predictions seem.

A Milwaukee writer said Friday the action had started the preceding day. He brought a lot of disgruntled fishermen to the area with his "uncalculated" guess and most of them returned to the city with nothing or very little to show for their efforts.

At Orihula, downstream from Fremont, a creel census revealed little or no action Saturday. Two fishermen, who spent most of the day on the river, had one crappie to show for their casts and two other duets each returned with nothing but a good share of fresh air.

Early in April
J. R. Simpson, a Waupaca fisherman who has both the time and energy to be ranked with the Wolf River experts, said he enjoyed some good fishing in the end of March and early in April and the fishing was rather good until a week ago today.

Conservation department personnel lifted test nets Saturday in the mouth of the Wolf River and found a number of walleyes are starting to move upstream.

This upstream movement coupled with reports of good catches on the Upper Fox River, which normally has a run of walleyes which precedes the Wolf River run, makes up the calculated guess a run may be starting.

Dan Polz, Waupaca, district fish manager, admits, like most Wolf river watchers, this is an "odd" season. As a matter of fact, there has never been one like it before in the history of water depth measurements. The river has never been this low before at this time of the year.

Slow Movement
Polz, like other conservation department specialists, says the slow movement of the walleyes out of the lakes is due to the absence of current from the usually flood-level Wolf River.

Furthermore, Polz points out, there is a real good year class of walleyes available for spawning. They are from a 1959 hatch and are about 16 inches long, which if the season develops could provide an almost record hatch for future years of fishing.

With the marshes "high and dry", present spawning conditions are at a low ebb, but there are two trains of thought concerning this. Some of the veteran anglers figure the walleyes will go up the river and spawn in the Wolf for a poor hatch.

Others figure the walleyes will hatch in Winnebago which could be a boom for future fishing years because if the eggs hatch in the lake, there will be no or little loss from the trip down the Wolf River, which specialists claim is responsible for a terrific loss of walleye fry.

A boat livery operator told this reporter Saturday, he believes area anglers are going to have one of the best fishing seasons in the history of the Wolf River. He predicts the walleyes and white bass will be running at the same time and the harvest will be great. He didn't say he had any evidence to back up his prediction, but he has many reasons for hoping he is right.

Therman Gibson Takes Nose-Dive After Big Start

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Low games rather than big ones were the main topic of conversation around the American Bowling Congress Tournament Wednesday.

Bowlers and bowling fans were shaking their heads in amazement over the terrific scoring nose-dive by Therman Gibson, famous Detroit professional bowler.

Gibson opened his ABC appearance with a 767 series in team, only one pin away from the all time mark of 768 rolled by Fred Weber of Milwaukee in 1934.

The burly bowler then started his doubles play with seven strikes and finished his first game in the minor events play with 245. This gave him an amazing 250 pins per game average for his first four games.

Last Magic Touch
Then he lost his magic touch and failed to score even one 200 in his final five tries. He closed the doubles with 184 and 158 and followed with 179-175-190.

This meant an 1,898 all events, for nine games, by Gibson and kept him from setting another all time mark. Gibson and Ed Lubanski, also of Detroit, are tied for the most series over 1,900 in ABC pay with six.

Gibson had no reason for the sudden scoring slump. The man who once won $75,000 on a nationally televised bowling show said, "They'll forget all about that and now all they will talk about will be my nose-dive."

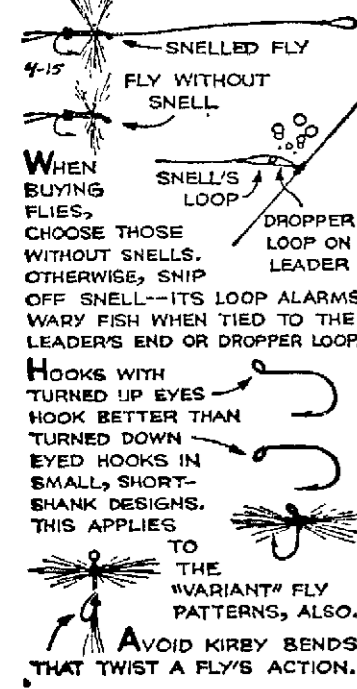

There was some good bowling on Tuesday's ABC program as Ronald Stoneback, a 29-year-old bowling lanes manager from Hellertown, Pa., took second in classic singles with 717 and Don Ellis, Houston, Texas pro, took third in classic all events on 1980.

Name Flynn MU's Most Valuable

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sophomore Tom Flynn, the leading scorer and rebounder on the Marquette basketball team in the past season, was named the team's most valuable player at the annual awards dinner Monday night.

Flynn, of Milwaukee, scored 450 points and grabbed 264 rebounds. He led the Warriors in scoring in 14 games and was the top rebounder in 15.

Phils' Rookie Thrills Fans in Loop Opener

Richie Allen Holds Up Well Under Trying Conditions

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—One game as they say doesn't a season make, but if the 1964 success of the Philadelphia Phillies depends on their prize rookie, Richie Allen, the Phils are going to be mighty tough.

Many experts have written that if Allen, the 22-year-old Negro third baseman from Wampum, Pa., can perform half as well as his advance billing, Manager Gene Mauch's Phillies could win the pennant.

Some 21,000 fans came out to see the Phillies' opener at Connie Mack Stadium Tuesday night and most of them came away talking about Allen. He walked, singled and doubled, scored a run and drove in a tally. But more important, he didn't panic under some trying conditions.

The Phillies led 4-1 over the New York Mets in the fifth inning when Allen was put to the test. The first two hitters for New York got on base as Allen twice shipped in mud created by a day long rain. It was upsetting to a veteran, let alone a rookie.

But Allen didn't let it bother him even a little bit. "Heck, if I could play at Little Rock there isn't anything here that's going to bother me," said the youngster.

Allen, of course, referred to his season last year in the In-

Old Wounds Re-Opened as Duke Snider Joins Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The suffering never ends for Brooklyn's orphaned baseball fans. Old wounds, six years in healing after Walter O'Malley separated the faithful from their Dodgers, have reopened. Duke Snider, the pride of Flatbush, has gone over to the still-hated Giants.

Snider, 37, was acquired by the Giants—San Francisco vineyard—from the New York Mets in a straight cash deal Tuesday. The silver-haired slugger may start alongside Willie Mays, another New York folk hero who went West, in the San Francisco outfield tonight when the Giants meet the Milwaukee Braves on the West Coast.

Old-line Dodger fans and "New Breed" Met rooters were dismayed by the second passing of the Duke. But Snider welcomed the move and the Giants, who have been after the veteran for some time, were equally happy.

"You're just what we need to win the (National League) pennant," Horace Stoneham, Giants president, told Snider via international League at Little Rock where he received every thing from the boos and racial insults to threats against his life.

He responded by leading the Triple A League in home runs, triples, RBIs and total bases.

Colavito, meanwhile, went 0-for-4.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles got long ball power with three home runs to trip the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and the Minnesota Twins and Cleveland Indians staged a slugfest with the Twins winning 7-6. The Yankees and Boston Red Sox were rained out in New York and Washington and Los Angeles were not sched-uled.

Norm Cash and Bill Bruton homered for the Tigers and Jim Gentile and pinch hitter Manny Jimenez connected for Kansas City.

Only Bright Spot
Jimenez is the Latin Ameri-can outfielder who drew Fin-ley's wrath two years ago be-cause he wasn't hitting enough home runs. His shot Tuesday was the only bright spot in an otherwise bleak beginning for the KC owner's season.

Boog Powell crashed a two-run homer in the eighth inning for the Orioles' victory over the White Sox. Starter Gary Peters was breezing until John Orsino homered in the sixth and pinch hitter Joe Gaines wiped out a 3-2 White Sox lead with a homer in the seventh.

Luis Aparicio's triple greeted relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth and then Powell's homer won it for the Birds. Stu Miller was the winner in relief.

Minnesota got four innings of hitless relief from Jim Roland in over-taking the Indians. Cleveland had jumped off to a 6-3 lead but the Twins caught up with Mudcat Grant in the fifth and Rich Rollins' two-run single in the sixth put them in front to stay.

Drives in 4 Runs
Leon Wagner, acquired from the Angels, smacked a homer and a single, driving in four runs for the Indians. Woodie Held also homered for Cleve-land and Early Battey con-nected for Minnesota.

Elliot Piepenburg fashioned a 587 series for the top effort in the AAA Keglars loop at Michiels Bowl, Sherwood. Marty Hermes garnered game honors with a 225 en route to a 551 set.

Power Comes Late

Public Address System Fails At Opener, but Dodgers Win

BY CHARLES MAHER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A crowd of more than 50,000 stood for the national anthem at Dod-ger Stadium opening night and Lauritz Melchior, the distin-guished Wagnerian tenor, stepped to a microphone in cen-ter field.

He began singing—to himself. The public address system had failed.

"It's worse than we thought," said a man on the third level. "This club doesn't even have any power in its loudspeakers."

Bravely, Melchior sang on, hoping perhaps to reach at least a few expert lip readers. Final-ly, when he had reached the last word of the last line, power was restored.

The Dodgers, who won the championship of baseball last season with a lot of pitching and not much punch, followed with an act that closely paralleled Melchior's.

Their performance also began inauspiciously. In the first two innings they hit into two double plays. In the third they left the bases loaded and in the fourth they got a double and a single without scoring.

Got a Little Power

But, like Melchior, they got a little power in the late going and successfully opened the season by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 4 - 0 behind six - hit pitching by Sandy Koufax.

Koufax, who won 25 games last season and every trophy but the Davis Cup last winter, made only 96 pitches and let St. Louis get only one runner to second base.

"It looked as though you hardly had to make any effort," a writer told him later.

Koufax, grinning, replied: "I don't feel your pains, either." Sandy said his fast ball be-haved satisfactorily, but not his curve. Five of the six St. Louis hits, he said, were off curve balls.

The Dodgers got 10 hits, in-cluding a two-run eighth-inning homer by Frank Howard and three singles by Maury Wills. Ron Fairly and Jim Gilliam each hit a run-scoring single. Howard's homer was his 100th in the major leagues.

Going back to last season, and including his two victories in the World Series, Koufax has won 10 consecutive games and 21 of his last 23 decisions. He hasn't lost to the Cardinals since Sept. 21, 1962, and has beaten them five times since.

Kaukauna Rotary Bowlers Defeat Lions Club

KAUKAUNA — The Rotary Club downed the Lions Club in the annual kegling match at the Bowling Bar by a margin of 92 pins. Each service club entered three teams.

Rotary team No. 1 downed Lion No. 1, 2,661 to 2,434, while Lion team No. 2 edged to a 2,322 to 2,284 win and Lion team No. 3 took a 2,261 to 2,164 win, but the first team for Rotary carried the over-all victory.

Rotary No. 1 rolled 932 for high team game. Carl Ploetz set the pace with scores of 205, 211 and 213. Other high Rotary scorers were Dr. M. G. Teske, 544; Mark Nagan, 525; Roy Reichert, 517, and Les Smith, 512.

Dick Rennie hit a 203 for top Lion single game. The high series were hit by Norm Weig-man, 545; Ray Morgan, 530; Bob Derus, 516, and Dick Ren-nicke, 513.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Don Fullmer, 163½, Provo, Utah, and Fred Root, 162 Sacramento, drew, 5. Referee ruled tech-nical draw after Root suffered gash over eye when Fullmer accidentally buffed him.

Draft Law Investigation May See Cassius as Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman predicts the House will soon launch a major investigation of the draft law and feature heavyweight champion Cassius Clay as its star witness.

The prediction came from Rep. William C. Bray, R-Ind., who also told a newsman: "I think the Selective Service made a mistake in rejecting Cassius Clay. I'm not sure what the devil you could do with him. But I think the Army could have found a place for him."

The Army had said Clay was rejected after he failed to pass mental tests.

Bray, who is the ranking Republican member of the House armed services subcommittee on personnel, said he was not sure just which congressmen would do the investigating.

He said he was hoping to persuade his subcommittee to do it.

games against NCAA champion UCLA and NIT champion Bradley. Only two ASU regulars will be back, but a 6-10 soph and two others of 6-7 1/2 and 6-7 are waiting to step in.

The Sun Devils got off to a slow (6-9) start but won 10 of their last 12 games in 1963-64. The interest in Arizona games has grown so much in the last few years that about 1,000 fans are turned away every game, according to Wulk. A bigger arena (to replace the current 4,- 600-seat structure) is in the talking stage, he said.

The current trend in collegiate basketball, according to Wulk, is to get a big man (6-9 or 6-10) to neutralize the big man on the other team. "Then, the other four players on each team can play ball," he pointed out.

In another five to 10 years, predicted Wulk, positions as such will be extinct. "You'll have five players like Caldwell and Cazzie Russell (6-5 or 6-6) who can all run and who can play all positions."

Arizona now designates its players as either "outside" or "inside" men, rather than having them play a standard position, said Wulk.

Appleton High School Coach Dick Emanuel summarized the "Terrors" season and introduced each member of the Fox River Valley Conference championship team (to replace the current 4,-

Title III—Desegregation of Public Facilities

Title III is an extension of Title II, authorizing the Attorney General to take action to desegregate public facilities "owned, operated or managed by or on behalf of any state or subdivision thereof." Public schools and colleges are exempted under this section since they are covered in a later title.

The Attorney General is authorized to institute actions for an injunction when presented with a complaint that an individual is denied equal protection of the laws in public places and when he certifies that the individual is unable to initiate proceedings on his own. He is also authorized to intervene in such actions.

Supporters of the legislation declare there is a crying need to open up tax-supported facilities such as public parks, playgrounds, golf courses and beaches to Negroes. They also declare that the Attorney General must be given the authority to act in behalf of individuals against states or municipalities maintaining segregated facilities.

They point to the harassment of peaceful demonstrators by police and courts in southern states and assert that the help of the federal government is needed to protect citizens in these states from their own state and local governments.

A Longer Term for Governor

Among the many items of unfinished business on the calendars of the state legislature this week is a plan for the amendment of the state constitution to provide a longer term for the governor of the state.

Because the lieutenant governor stands next in line in the constitutional succession to the chief state executive office, this amendment provides quite logically for the same extension of term for that officer.

This newspaper believes that there is embodied here one of the most useful reforms the people of Wisconsin can achieve, although we have no illusions about the difficulty of the task.

Historically our chief elected officials in the state government have been held to a short, two year term. The reasons related to the desire and the insistence of our political forefathers to maintain literally the popular control of their government. A longer term, they feared, might lead to dangerous entrenchment of power-hungry men.

Whatever the validity of those fears in earlier eras, they are not relevant today. In point of fact, the governor of the state is so hedged in with restrictions and counter-balancing controls on his authority that he is one of the "weak" executives of the nation, in terms of law, not of the personality of any incumbent.

Almost all of the principal administrative services, for example, are beyond his direct control through the device of staggered tenure of administrative board officials, ranging from the regents of the

Was MacArthur Betrayed?

The controversy over what General Douglas MacArthur recommended was needed to win the Korean conflict and why he was removed from command by President Truman will probably always be a subject for argument. It can be a valid topic for discussion. Subsequent events make the decisions in that war even more controversial than they were at the time.

But the release by two newsmen of the previously unpublished stories could have waited at least until after the general's funeral.

Newspapermen Jim Lucas and Bob Considine are respected in their field. Their stories of the interview that took place shortly after MacArthur had returned from Korea are similar and they are reasonable. MacArthur was understandably bitter. As a proud man with a great deal of self confidence, he felt he had been held up to public ridicule by his removal as commander. And the action followed rather closely upon a mistake made by MacArthur; the assumption that the Chinese Communists would not enter the fray. It is quite likely that MacArthur not only strongly advocated taking the war into the north with any military means; it is reasonable that he felt a betrayal. It is even possible that he was right.

Looking Backward

Motor Praises Lincoln Letter

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for May 5, 1864.

It will be recollected that a delegation from Kentucky headed by Gov. Bramlette lately called upon the President to induce him to favor slavery in that State by exempting the slaves from military enrollment.

The Governor had previously threatened resisting to the conscription of blacks and had been told that if white troops were not forthcoming to fill the quota of the State, no exceptions would be made in its favor, but all men, white or black, without distinction, subject to the draft, would be en-

Opponents on the other hand decry the providing of tax-paid U. S. government lawyers to help groups like the NAACP with their legal battles.

They are frightened by the considerable extension of the powers of the Attorney General. They point out that if the Attorney General decides to intervene on behalf of an individual, he need not even make the name of the complainant public and therefore an accused public official is denied the right of facing his accuser.

Once again opponents also attack the fact that in legal proceedings under this title an accused is denied the right of trial by jury, since enforcement is through suits for injunctions and jail terms for contempt if such injunctions are violated.

The same issues prevail in the case of this title as did under Title II. If we agree that the federal government must step in to desegregate places of business open to the public, then facilities operated by governmental units must be treated the same as those operated privately. In fact there is even more justification for declaring that facilities built, maintained and operated by public tax moneys should be open to all taxpayers regardless of race, color, religion or national origin.

universities and colleges, to the boards of health, agriculture, conservation, and whatever.

But the governor does have vital surviving functions, such as the preparation of the biennial budget. Under a two year term law a new man has scarcely any opportunity to become acquainted with his responsibilities and the nature of the multifarious state government activities before he is confronted with the practical necessity of returning to the campaign stump to work for his re-election. Most of his first term typically is devoted to legislative relations. His functions as executive leader of the state are shunted aside. As a consequence, not one of the men who has served in recent times has had the kind of opportunity to perform as governor—as distinguished from his role as politician—that he probably thought he would have when he offered his services.

All recent governors, we are confident, will testify about their personal belief that a four year term is a wise and prudent reform.

The constitutional amendment is now within one step of passage in the legislature. The assembly needs only to ratify the vote of the senate, to put the issue before the people in a subsequent referendum. The people have a certain reserve about constitutional changes, to be sure, as certified in the recent Wisconsin referendum elections. But this improvement can be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the electorate, we feel, and the legislature should provide the opportunity to do so.

Two of MacArthur's aides have disagreed about the interview. One says it's nonsense and was immediately called a liar by the newsmen. Another says the published reports of the interviews were essentially what MacArthur felt about the affair.

Actually, in the light of another interview, it seems likely that the reports are about right. The late President Kennedy told another newsmen that General MacArthur had warned him that if the United States intervened anywhere in Southeast Asia to fight communism, it must be prepared to use nuclear weapons against the Red Chinese. MacArthur had learned through bitter experience that the Chinese would join local Communist forces. Reportedly this warning was of great influence in President Kennedy's decision not to send troops into Laos. However, this now leaves a bigger question mark than ever over the war in Viet Nam where American troops are committed.

The controversy over how to keep wars limited without losing them will continue. But the stories about MacArthur's angry statements regarding Korea, kept confidential for so many years, could have waited another week for release.

rolled and drafted as in other States.

The President also refused to yield to the solicitations of the Kentucky delegation, and his reasons for so doing and, indeed, a full explication of his whole course in regard to slavery is embodied in the letter, and more, it is a complete justification of the President's final convictions and subsequent action.

The President's letter (of April 4, 1864) is straightforward and to the point, a fearless statement to the worst enemies of his emancipation proclamation and to the world, that "if slavery is not wrong, nothing is wrong," and his fixed purpose of "laying hands on the colored element" and using it to crush out the rebellion.

In every point of view it is the best paper Mr. Lincoln has ever penned. It contains matter and logic and will command the highest respect for its author and renewed confidence as to his future action.

Religion in Homes Is Greatest Need Today

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Today as I read the title "More Religion in Schools is Great Need in Today's World," I couldn't help but mentally change it to read "More Religion in Homes is Great Need in Today's World."

I suppose I was still thinking of the words I read in the paper — words spoken by a father when he came to the police station to get his college-student daughter who had been picked up by the police at a boy-girl party in a hotel room. He said, "I thought she had been in an accident when they called. Thank God it's only this."

I wondered how many more fathers and mothers there are who are more concerned about the possibility of their child's body being crippled or destroyed in an accident than they are about the possibility of their child's soul being crippled or destroyed.

I wondered how many of these parents mock God by thanking Him that it is only a soul that has been damaged.

I wondered what these parents will say when God asks them to account for the souls of the children He gave them.

Are We Just Political Litterbugs?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

On the night of April 7 while the election returns were being broadcast via radio station WHBY, a telegram from the Republican Headquarters at Madison was read referring to the Democratic party as the schizophrenic party. We must take note that after all the returns were in we find that quite a number of schizophrenics crossed over to the so-called schizophrenic party to cast their vote for a rabble rousing schizophrenic.

Let's not let such as he turn the good people of Wisconsin into political litterbugs.

Idea of Bonding for Highway Construction Irretrievably Killed

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The thunderous protest of the voters against the idea of long-term bonding for state highway construction acceleration and the levying of additional motor fuel taxation to finance the borrowing may have more long-range consequences in Wisconsin than the other events of election day.

For the margin of electoral veto, whatever the politicians on one side or the other said before the event, was far greater than friend or foe expected.

Like a trumpet blast, the message rang out loud and clear. The echo will resound in the state legislature, where there is now no slightest chance that anything resembling the governor's ardently pushed superhighway plan will be considered. Indeed, the importance of the event may lie in the probability that even the legislature of 1965 and 1967 will hear the reverberations.

There is nothing more sensitive than a referendum vote which provides a county by county definition of voters' wills on a clear and precise public issue.

UNEXPECTED

The Republican legislative chiefs who devised this method of sidetracking the governor's plan last fall were pretty sure of the device.

But they didn't have in mind such a top-heavy voter protest that the whole idea of highway development acceleration would be set back indefinitely.

In fact, a part of the motive for the referendum among some Republicans was to provide a kind of breathing space for the GOP, and to frustrate the plan of the Democratic administration to exploit an issue which Republicans felt could as well be theirs when they return to full control of the capitol next January, as most of them are sure they will after the elections in the fall.

Thus the referendum in retrospect may have been a serious miscalculation. The voters were more sour than even the critical Republicans knew or suspected. The idea of borrowing for super-highway construction now is irretrievably destroyed. The backlash may be sufficient to dissuade any new approaches to highway financing even if the Republicans recapture control in the statehouse as they feel they will.

Principal financing advances in the history of the state highway program have come at intervals of about a decade. The last important change came in 1955, with the raising of the motor fuel tax to its present level. The 1965 legislature would have been a plausible target date for another adjustment in the financial base of the highway department. But in the face of the electoral blast of last Tuesday, the outlook becomes doubtful indeed.

THE POLITICS

A politician must say something on such occasions. The governor is now dismissing the incident as an example of the people's antipathy to new taxes and their habit of voting against them when given the opportunity. Yet to labor that point is to suggest, however indirectly, that he would have preferred putting over the program without a full disclosure of the present and future taxing implications.

Mr. Reynolds had hoped that this vast highway undertaking — which was as bold in its conception as anything put forward by any state politician lately — would be a kind of justification for his second term. But he reckoned without the resourcefulness of the Republican foe which devised the referendum trap, and without the typical conservatism of the spring electorate.

The governor probably overestimated also the appetite of the highway building industry. Normally it is a powerful thing. But in this case it lay down and played dead, a fact about which the men in the governor's office are doubtless reflecting ruefully.

Shakespeare the Poet Often Lost on Stage

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Whatever the fate of John Gielgud's production of "Hamlet" on Broadway this spring, I'd like to applaud his conception as a rare tribute to Shakespeare.

As you may know, this production, starring Richard Burton, is performed on a nearly bare stage containing a rough platform and stairs, a few chairs and a table. The cast wears everyday dress, and all the traditional props are absent—the heavy armorings and trappings of an "historical period."

Sir John Gielgud, who himself was one of the most notable Hamlets of our century, explains that he wanted "the beauty of the language and imagery to shine through unencumbered by any elaborate reconstruction." Too often, he explained, the dramatic "business" of the play tends to blur and obscure the magnificent poetry.

Having seen last year the Tyrone Guthrie production of "Hamlet," which opened the new Minneapolis Repertory Theater, I can heartily agree that Shakespeare the poet is generally sacrificed to Shakespeare the stage mechanic. Guthrie's "Hamlet," like a dozen others I have seen before it, was a vulgar impertinence to English literature.

Many of the finest lines were utterly lost in the bustling and clanking of the action. The actors were so busy giving us the body of the play that the soul of it entirely eluded them — for the soul of it resides in the language, in the imagery, in the interchange of mood and motive far beneath the visual surface of the action.

Nobody should attend a Shakespearean play who has not read it carefully at least a couple of times recently. His works are so densely packed, so charged with content, that we miss the essential thrust of their import when they are subordinated to a scene of the stage.

Shakespeare was not essentially a playwright, a philosopher, or a psychologist. He was primarily a poet — and the poetic vision is deeper and different from any of these others; it has the power to summon up a part of us long buried in the unconscious, and to evoke a response more primitive (and therefore more cleansing) than any ordered and rational thought can do.

The "beauty and imagery" that Gielgud is seeking to restore have been almost obliterated by the superficial and "theatrical" approaches to Shakespeare, which are treason to his spirit and intent. He did not write for actors; not even for audiences; but for the person hoping to touch the inmost core of his solitude, that part most hidden from everyone else, and from ourselves as well.

THE POTOMAC FEVER

If you listen carefully to Pennsylvania's Gov. Scranton, you get the idea he won't run a step — but would love to be dragged to the White House.

LBJ forces a 15-day delay in a national rail strike. That's a strike against freight, of course. Labor and management struck off passengers years ago.

Rockefeller boosters hand out 2,000 pot holders at a Republican women's convention. The symbolism is obscure. As a candidate, is Rocky hot—or too hot to handle?

Goldwater Wins In Illinois Primary; Smith Vote Surprise

Charles H. Percy Receives
GOP Nomination for Governor

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in the Illinois presidential preference primary shared interest today with a surprising show of strength by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith.

Charles H. Percy, who stepped into a president's post in industry at 29, captured the Republican nomination for governor at the age of 44.

Percy

Returns from Tuesday's primary gave these percentages of the preference vote: Goldwater, 63; Mrs. Smith, 26; Henry Cabot Lodge, 6; and Richard M. Nixon, 3, with the remainder split up among several others.

Sen. Smith, of Maine, came into the Illinois test after Goldwater had entered. She wanted, she said, to give the voters a choice.

Both traveled to Illinois twice during the campaign. The Arizona senator spoke Friday to 10,000 at a rally in the International Amphitheatre.

The lady from Maine was in the state at the same time. As on her previous weekend visit, she quickly made the rounds at colleges and small gatherings.

Her display of vote-pulling power was unexpected, too, when viewed in the light of her finish as a poor fifth in the March 10 primary in her neighboring state of New Hampshire.

Only the names of Sen. Goldwater and Sen. Smith were printed on the Republican ballots. Others scored by the write-in method on both party ballots, although the Lodge and Nixon boosters did not specifically seek write-ins.

Governorship Contest

Percy, now board chairman of the Bell & Howell Co., made a successful start in his first try for public office by defeating State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37.

The winner also took a first step toward control of the GOP in Illinois. The triumph, in addition, gave him a position of influence among delegates to the party's national convention in July.

"I'm going to cast my vote with the majority of the delegates, and I must concede right now it is a Goldwater delegation," Percy stated.

The result of the preference primary is not binding on delegates.

O'Brien, Oldest House Member, Dies at Naval Hospital in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien, oldest member of the House and dean of the Illinois Congressional delegation, died yesterday at Bethesda Naval Hospital just 16 days short of his 86th birthday anniversary.

For many years a quiet behind-the-scenes Democratic power, O'Brien suffered a stroke in August 1962 but was reelected the following November and returned to Capitol Hill. However, he returned to the hospital last June and never left.

His death came as Illinois was holding its primary and he was renominated. The congressional committee of his 6th district will choose a replacement for his place on the ballot.

O'Brien's power stemmed from his position as third-ranked Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee and his ability to swing the votes of the big Illinois Democratic delegation.

He first was elected to Congress in 1933 and remained until he was elected sheriff of Cook (Chicago) County in 1938. At the end of that four-year term in 1942 he was returned to Congress where he stayed until his death.

His death makes the House membership 255 Democrats, 178 Republicans and two vacancies, and Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., who turned 85 on April 11, becomes the oldest House member.

Hussein Raps Israeli Plan to Divert Jordan

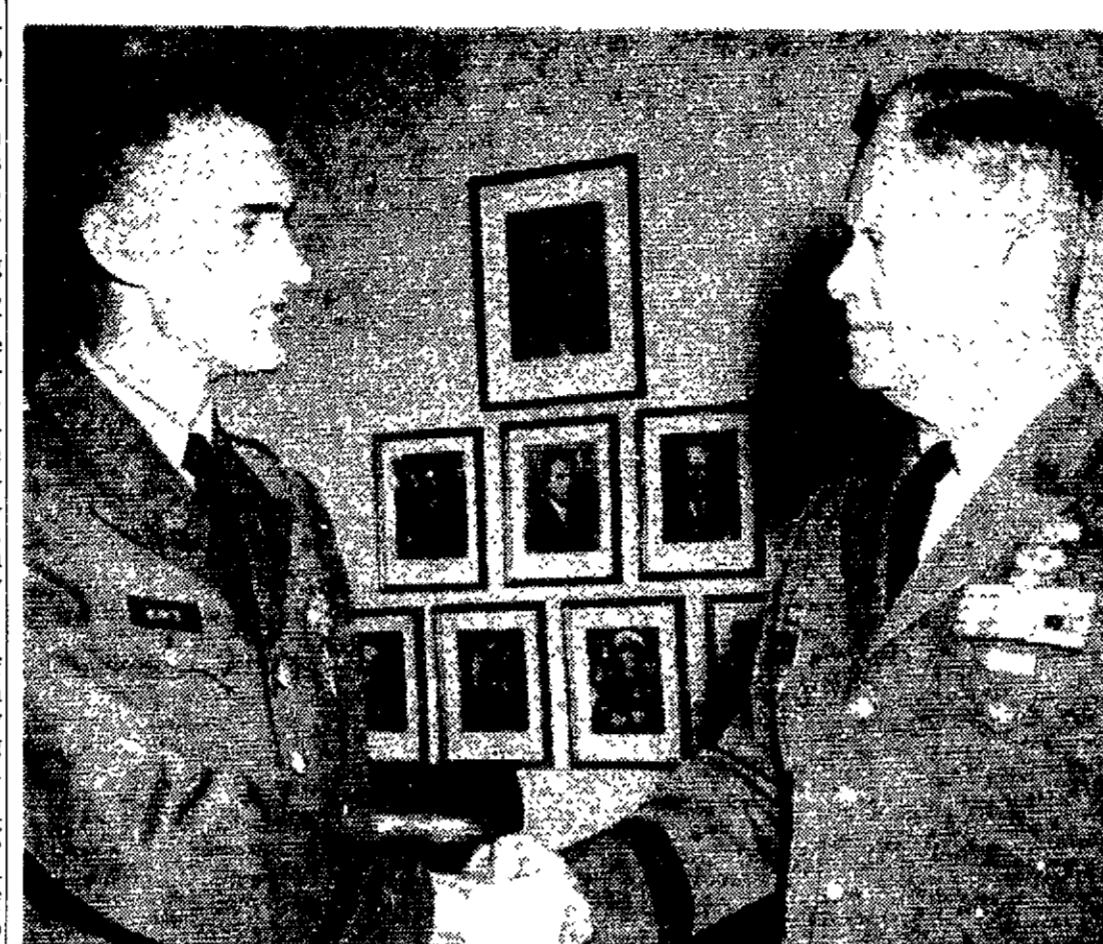

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan presses Arab opposition to Israel's plan to divert Jordan River waters for irrigation purposes as he continued talks today with President Johnson and other top U.S. officials.

The 28-year-old monarch told a news conference Tuesday that the Israeli plan was a "violation of international law, an act which hits the stability in the area." He said he saw no prospect for a compromise.

Israel plans to use the Jordan waters to irrigate the Negev Desert.

A communique was to be issued late today, after Johnson and Hussein wind up their talks with an afternoon conference. The monarch was also scheduled to visit the State Department and confer with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Intelligence Reports Aired
In Reply to LeMay Challenge

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara permitted use of intelligence estimates to challenge Gen. Curtis E. LeMay because he wanted to kill at birth

One high official familiar with McNamara's thinking said the defense secretary feels it is "dangerous to raise any doubts about our strength."

"He thinks it would be wrong to sit by and allow creation of a myth—and it is a myth in his judgment—that there is any lessening of our strength," this official said.

The Defense Department statement did not name LeMay. Authorities would not acknowledge it was aimed at the controversial Air Force chief of staff, who feels McNamara is placing too much reliance on missiles and waving the manned bomber to the sidelines too early.

Goldwater's Views

Officials noted that there had been a spate of criticisms, including a new defense strategy paper spelling out the views of one of McNamara's strongest foes, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

But Goldwater's paper dwelt mostly on the issue of missile reliability—which plunged him into collision with McNamara early in Goldwater's quest for the Republican presidential

SEATO Lashes At Aggression In South Viet Nam

MANILA (AP) — The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization expressed "grave concern" today about continuing Communist aggression in South Viet Nam and agreed that members of the eight-nation alliance

"should remain prepared if necessary to take further concrete steps" under the SEATO treaty.

The SEATO ministers agreed that the defeat of the Communist campaign "is essential not only to the security of the Republic of Viet Nam but to that of Southeast Asia."

"It will also be convincing proof that Communist expansion by such tactics will not be permitted."

France, which has proposed neutralization of Viet Nam and recognized Communist China, said that "under the present serious circumstances it was wise to abstain from any declaration."

The ministers set forth their views in a communique summing up their three-day 10th anniversary meeting.

Proposal Sure To be Factor In Campaign

Idea Suggested

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The homestead tax relief scheme outlined to the Legislature today by Gov. Reynolds revives an idea that has not been seriously proposed in Wisconsin since the depression-inspired proposals of the late 1930's.

While its fate is uncertain, it may have considerable political impact while it marks the Democratic governor as a man of ingenious responses to political adversity.

The governor has had few successes during his first term as head of the state government dealing with a Republican controlled Legislature.

Defeated on Road Plan

He was obliged to accept a revenue program with sales taxes that he had categorically said he would never accept.

Last week his fondly planned highway construction acceleration program went glimmering under the force of a powerful and unmistakably contrary vote of the people.

Even the Republicans are likely to credit him in private with an able counter-stroke in reporting an unexpectedly high prospective surplus, and to use it through presumably popular elimination of the sales taxes on electrical and telephone bills and for a new program of tax aid for the impecunious elderly.

Demands for tax ceilings and property tax exemption privileges for homes were common in earlier eras, but always failed on constitutional grounds or because their authors could not devise the replacement revenues required for the local gov-

Estimates State Surplus At $50.5 Million in His Proposal to Legislature

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds set Wisconsin's anticipated state surplus at $50.5 million today and in an unexpected move asked the Legislature to turn almost half of it to easing property taxes for persons over 65.

The Democratic chief executive called property taxes generally harsh and unfair, but said the levy is "most cruel" on persons whose income has dropped in old age.

Reynolds had been expected

Relief to Elderly Sought in 2 Bills

MADISON (AP) — Assembly Republicans reacted to Gov. John W. Reynolds' proposal to grant property relief to the elderly today by scheduling prompt action on two bills that would give tax relief to Wisconsin residents over 65.

The Assembly's Republican floor leader, Paul Alfonsi of Minocqua, scheduled the two measures as a special order of business Thursday.

The bills have been before the Assembly since February of 1963 and have bipartisan sponsorship. One would grant $5.02 million a year in property tax relief to those over 65 and the other would increase from $15 to $20 the income tax exemption for those over 65.

Republicans would not say that the action was an attempt to take the edge off Reynolds' proposals for tax relief to the elderly.

to say that revenue collections point to a sizeable surplus at the end of the current biennium, June 30, 1965. The loftiest predictions from leaders of the Legislature's Republican majority, however, set the total at about half the governor's figure.

The GOP also was braced for a tax cut appeal—but in the area of sales rather than property levies.

The governor did ask the repeal of sales taxes on telephone service and intrastate tolls, an item that would shrink revenues this biennium $3.2 million.

Homestead Tax Relief

"The major tax cut I am recommending is the immediate granting of homestead tax relief for the aged in Wisconsin," Reynolds told a joint session of the Legislature.

He said the program would cost $20 million and aid 420,000 persons over age 65.

"After retirement, many older citizens find that they can no longer afford to live in their own homes, or in decent rental housing," the governor said.

"For those people—unable to

Talk Renewed Of Legalized Bets on Races

Legislature Votes
Tax on Luxury Items

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin lawmakers have approved another tax cutting proposal, and at the same time opened their spring session to consideration of a number of special measures, some of them involving money.

As the lawmakers took these actions Tuesday, there once again was talk of legalizing horse and dog race betting in Wisconsin, with the state getting a cut to be used for educational facilities.

Sponsors say the state's share could go as high as $40 million a year.

Approval Expected

In a move to trim taxes, the Senate approved an Assembly bill that applies the three percent sales tax on luxury items only to the net cost of the product. The state tax currently is computed on the cost of the item and the federal excise tax on it.

The bill would save taxpayers an estimated $750,000 a year. The governor is expected to sign it.

The horse and dog race betting was taken up by the Assembly which voted 51-34 to revive a proposed constitutional amendment legalizing pari-mutuel wagering. It was given preliminary approval 49-44.

Approval by two successive legislatures and a referendum would be required to legalize the racing and betting.

The appropriations proposals were cleared for consideration by the Joint Finance Committee and the Assembly Rules Committee.

The joint finance unit approved introduction of a measure to give the University of Wisconsin an additional $1.5 million to pay the instruction

Spacecraft Relays Vital Information

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A spacecraft named Fire blazed through the atmosphere faster than any previous space payload Tuesday night and radioed a wealth of information which could make manned trips to the moon safer.

The spacecraft, looking like a compact model of the Apollo moonship, rode an Atlas missile more than 500 miles into space. As it plummeted back toward earth, a 10-foot-long rocket fired and increased payload speed from about 15,000 to 25,166 miles an hour.

Over 7,000 m.p.h.

The speed was slightly higher than that the Apollo craft is to attain in returning astronauts from the moon. It also was more than 7,000 miles an hour faster than the velocity recorded by any previous space vehicle re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

As the 200-pound payload made the meteoric dive, it radioed information on the heat that seared its blunt shield.

A great shock wave built up in front of the payload and temperature of gases within the wave reached 200,000 degrees. An observer at the South Atlantic tracking station on Ascension Island described the spacecraft as a ball of fire.

Herbert A. Wilson, Project Fire manager for the space agency's Langley Research Center, told newsmen he was very pleased with initial data from the 32-minute flight. A tape recorder stored heat data during the peak period of re-entry when extreme temperatures cut off radio signals.

The recorder made a full report on stored data before the craft plunged into the ocean 5,200 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

3 Turk Cypriots Killed in Clashes

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Scattered clashes flared on Cyprus again today and three Turkish Cypriots were reported killed. Canadian U.N. troops were shot at in two outbreaks and returned the fire.

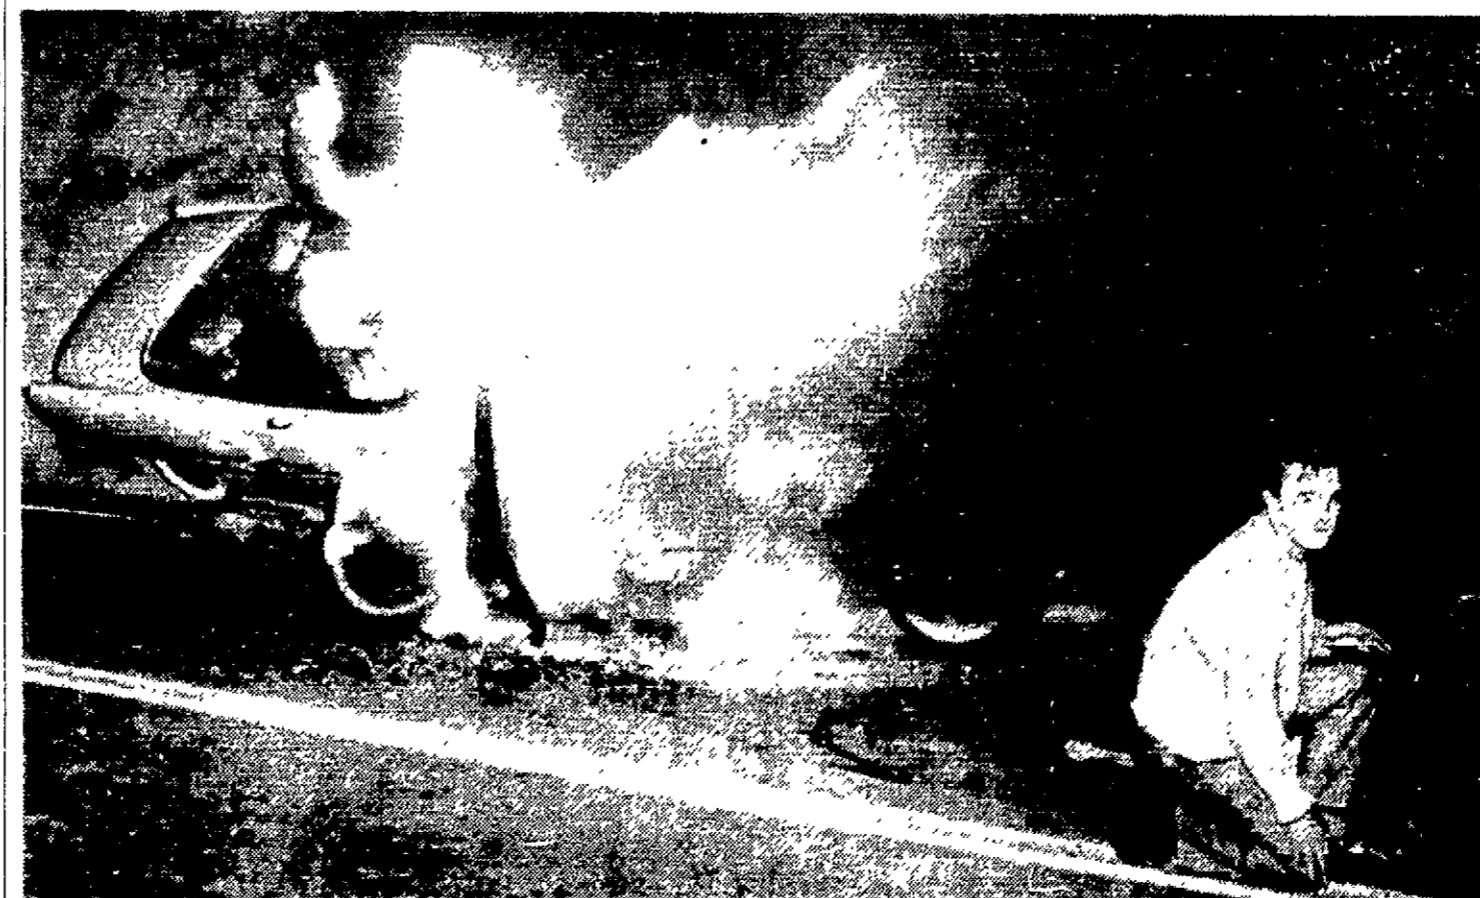

Greek Cypriot sources said three Turks were killed during the night when Greek fighters overran an advance Turkish position in the Kyrenia Mountains. U.N. officers there are seeking to avert a pitched battle.

The Turks were among about 30 entrenched on a strategic hill 12 miles north of Nicosia.

U.N. headquarters said Canadian troops shot back after Turkish Cypriots fired on them in Trachomas, a Nicosia suburb, and in the Kyrenia Mountains. No Canadian casualties were reported.

Oshkosh Gains 5-3 Decision Over Rockets

Neenah Scores Three Markers In Sixth Inning

NEENAH — Neenah came up with three runs in the last of the sixth but darkness prevented it from getting another rap and it dropped a 5-3 decision to Oshkosh in the chilly and windy baseball opener for both clubs here Tuesday.

The contest was called at the end of six frames because of darkness.

Coach Joe Braun substituted liberally and mostly freshmen and sophomores were in the lineup when the Rockets came up with all their runs in the sixth and had the tying markers on base when the final out was made.

Norm Bauman opened the inning by drawing a walk. He was forced at second by Jim Bellin but Tim Wrase was safe on an infield error. After Gary Losse fled to short center, Tom Walkner doubled home Bellin and Wrase.

Fettlers Singles

Freshman Jim Fettlers came up with a single, putting Walkner on third. Joe Muench singled home Walkner but freshman Larry Handler fanned to end the game.

Oshkosh scored three times off Gene Loughrin in the third inning. Only the first run was earned when Bruce Erickson walked, stole second, took third on an infield out and came home on Hal Malnory's sacrifice fly.

With two out, Bill Gogolewski singled and Tom Ambrose walked. An error loaded the bases and Greg Gaitner singled home Gogolewski and Ambrose. Jim Jischke fanned to end the inning.

The Indians added two runs in the sixth off Steve Clark when Malnory walked and Greg Wood slammed a drive down the third base line which got through outfielder Ed Began for a double and two-base error.

Neenah picked up two hits in the second inning but a double play erased the scoring opportunity. In the fourth, Began walked but was cut down at second base after which Gene Loughrin collected an infield hit, took second on an error and third on a passed ball. A pop foul to the catcher and strikeout left the runner at third.

Loughrin worked the first three innings for Neenah and allowed three runs, one of which was earned, walked three, hit one batter and struck out six. Dave Fischer pitched the fourth and fifth and permitted no runs, two hits, three walks and one strikeout. Berrell led off the fourth with a triple off the southpaw but died on third. Clark, in his lone inning, permitted

Long said Beloit's population today is 8 to 9 per cent Negro. He said human rights workers had pulled the Negroes in the city out of confinement to the foundries, and "we now have Negroes working as teachers, policemen, firemen, city employees and in all phases of business."

Final Sabin Vaccine Doses Will be Given

About 90,000 County Residents Expected To Complete Polio Immunization on Sunday

An estimated $30,000 worth of Sabin oral vaccine for Sunday's countywide polio immunization clinics was scheduled to arrive in Appleton today via North Central Airlines.

The vaccine was purchased by the Outagamie County Medical Society from a New Jersey drug manufacturer.

Dr. George Behnke, chairman of the mass immunization program which is expected to attract 90,000 residents to 10 clinic sites, said the shipment would include about 3,000 cartons containing bottles of vaccine.

From 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, residents of Outagamie County will receive their second, and final dose of the oral vaccine to complete the immunization cycle. On March 28 County residents received their first dose of type I.

Types II and III. On Sunday types II and III will be given in one dose for a donation of 25 cents. However, those unable to pay will receive the vaccine without charge.

Dr. Behnke emphasized that all persons who received the first dose last month should get the final this Sunday to attain full immunity against polio.

Medical authorities advise a four to six week waiting period after receiving type I.

Dr. Behnke advises anyone who may have attended a Sabin clinic in the area last Sunday not to get types II and III this Sunday.

Vaccine Refrigerated

Upon arrival at the Outagamie County Airport, the vaccine was to be transported to Doctors' Park and put under refrigeration until this weekend.

Doctors, nurses and other volunteers will administer the doses of vaccine. They will be contained in a small cube of sugar. Outagamie county pharmacists will have the major task of putting more than 200,000 drops of vaccine in the cubes.

Dr. Behnke said anyone in the county who failed to get the first dose at the March 28 clinic may get the dose of types II and III this Sunday, and then report to the family physician about a month from now to get a dose of type I.

"Although this is an Outagamie countywide project, we will draw no boundary lines in administering the vaccine," Dr. Behnke reminded.

"As far as the Medical Society is concerned," Dr. Behnke said, "the more people that take this vaccine, the better."

150,000 Doses

There will be enough vaccine to administer doses to $150,000 persons. The unused portion will be returned to the New Jersey firm.

Locations of clinics are Morgan, Madison Junior High, St. Pius, Jefferson and Huntley schools, all in Appleton, and J. R. Gerritts Junior High of Kimberly and Kaukauna. Seymour, New London and Hortonville high schools.

Outagamie May Try to Recover Attorney's Fee

Ponath to Determine If County Board Has Grounds for Action

Action from the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors against a bill for $1,320 for legal services paid to a court-appointed attorney may be forthcoming, County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath said Tuesday.

Ponath said he is studying to determine if the county board has legal recourse to recall payment of the bill which was approved last Friday by County Judge Gustave Keller.

The bill represented legal services by James Hebbe, Appleton attorney, who was appointed to represent a New London youth charged with the theft of cigarettes and a case of beer from a beer bar. The youth was found guilty by a 12-man jury and placed on probation for three years.

Probation Requirement
Among the youth's probation requirements are that he reimburse the county for the attorney's expenses during his probation term.

The youth, Orville Schucknecht, who had been waived from juvenile court in February, said he did not want an attorney and his parents refused to hire one. Hebbe was then appointed to represent Schucknecht.

A series of meetings were scheduled Monday to discuss the bill, but according to Ponath, Judge Keller did not attend any of the meetings. Ponath and other county officials had decided to determine what policies in the future would be used in paying or hiring court-appointed attorneys.

More Meetings
Woehler met with County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer briefly Monday. Woehler said more meetings are scheduled to discuss the problem. Fulcer said that under the current practice of hiring attorneys, it is impossible to keep tight budget control on court costs.

Ponath said today he will attempt to see if the county board has some approval or disapproval power over bills paid out by the courts.

None of the monies being paid to court-appointed attorneys since January have been budgeted and are being paid from the budget allocation for operations of County Court Branch 2, Judge Keller's court. Ponath said that if the current trend is continued, the budget would be depleted before the end of the year.

Judge Keller has adopted a practice of appointing attorneys in cases where the defendant has proven he cannot afford an attorney. Judge Keller said he is following advice directed to the lower courts by the Supreme Court.

MU Professor Cites White 'Conspiracy to Keep the Negro Out'

"We have witnessed a widespread conspiracy among the white people of our country to keep the Negro out."

This view by Dr. James Barrett, Marquette University biology teacher and member of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, set the theme for the commission's regional meeting Tuesday at Lawrence College.

Barrett said housing segregation, discrimination and ostracizing of the Negro were status symbols in some social complexes. He said residential discrimination often was strongest among lower income groups "to keep the Negro below their level by keeping him out of their neighborhood."

"Better Break"
Most people agree something should be done "to give the Negro a better break," Barrett said, "but when it comes to doing something in their own area

then they hesitate on their stand."

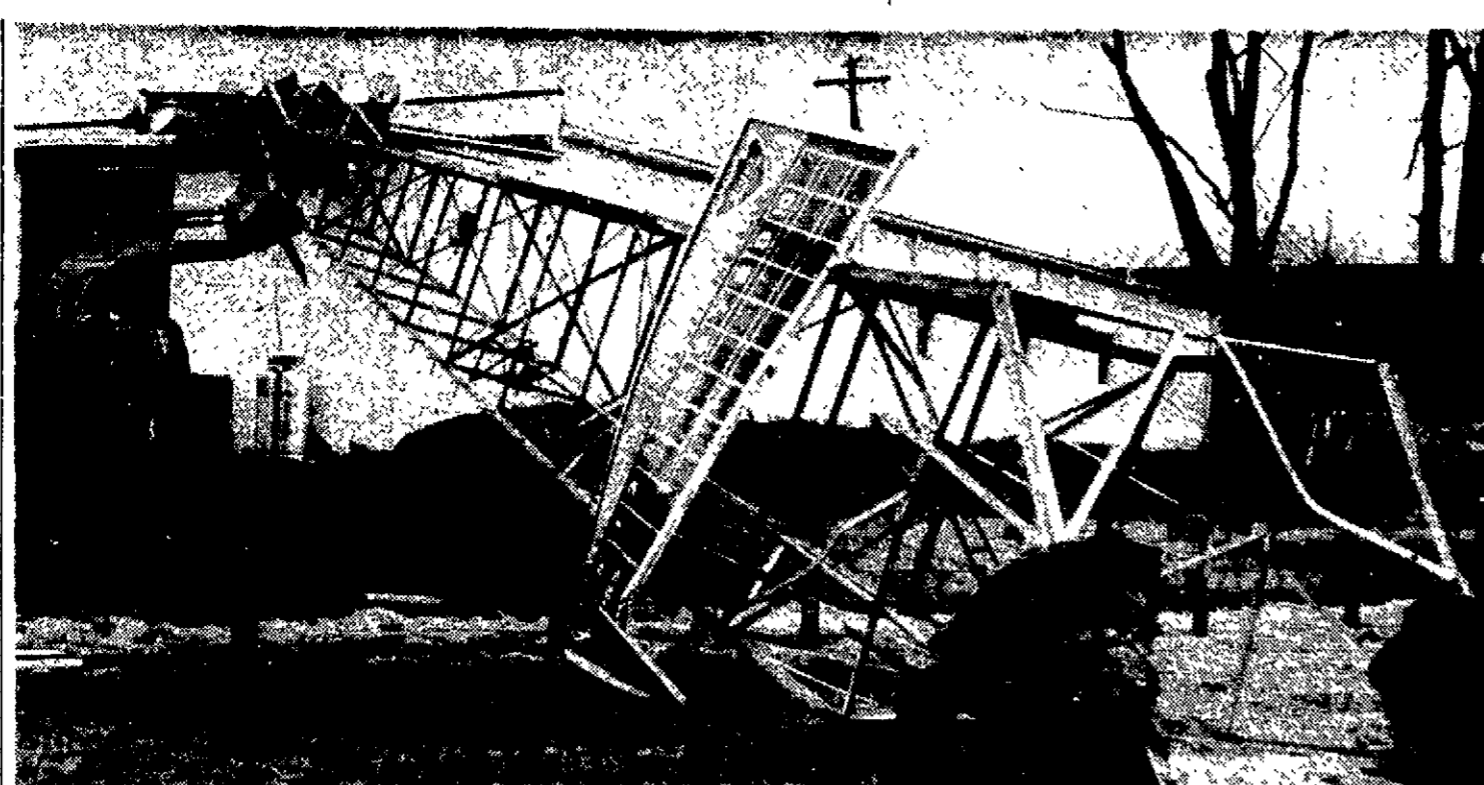

Solutions to discrimination problems can best be arrived at through individual action, Barrett said. He suggested formation of local human rights commissions and said to accomplish things in the human rights field, "you have to do them on your own."

Mrs. Ulysses Lindsay, Milwaukee, secretary of the commission, attacked claims that Negroes are lazy and don't want to work. "For 250 years, we did the white man's work for nothing. For the next 100 we did the dirty work."

She said for the first 250 years, Negroes were in America, the law said they couldn't be educated. "Today their education is being neglected. In World War II, many Negroes were brought to the North to work in factories. They're given second class opportunities, second class education and second class citizenship," she said.

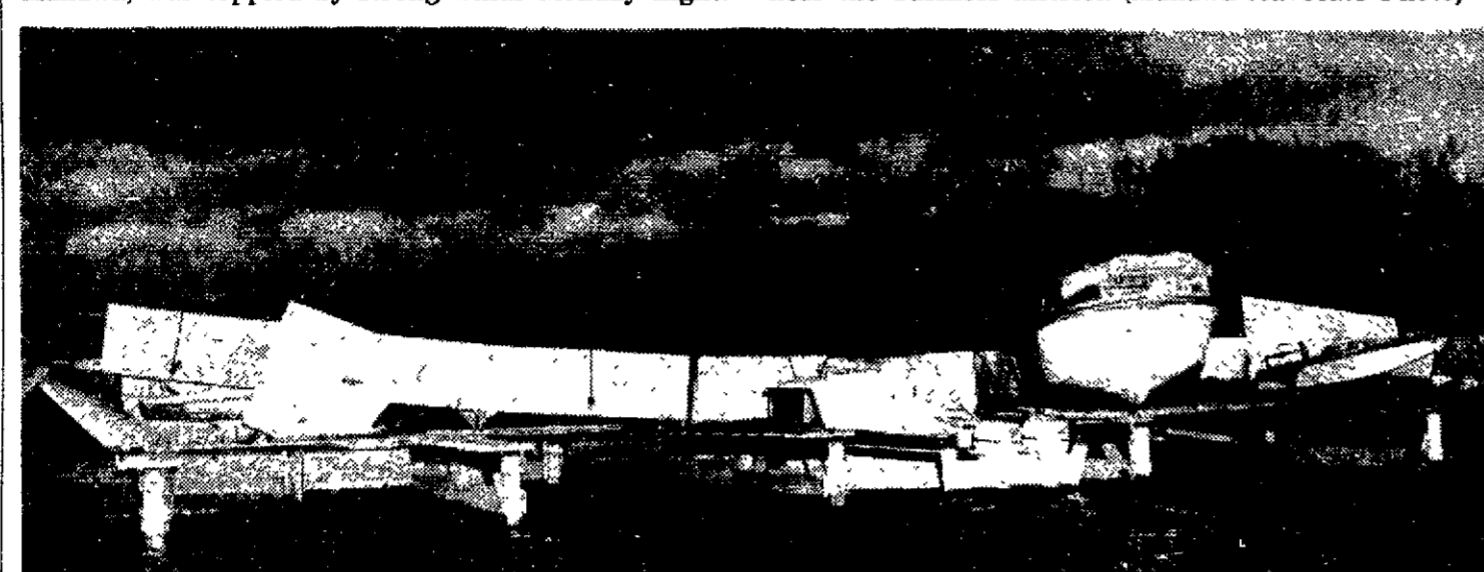

Second Class Opportunity
Mrs. Lindsay exemplified her stand on second class opportunity with an incident that happened to one of her relatives. The relative, she said, wanted to be a bricklayer in Milwaukee, but was unable to get an apprenticeship.

In trying to get an apprenticeship, he worked as a hod carrier, Mrs. Lindsay said. After entering the Korean conflict and returning, he still wanted an apprenticeship. When an employer in Milwaukee agreed to give him an apprenticeship, the union wouldn't accept a Negro apprentice, she said. "He finally got his apprenticeship — at Tus-

Sports being offered this season include tennis, softball, archery, golf, baseball, football and track and field.

Dr. John Steiner, Waupaca, claims fishing takes a professional touch and has the needed proof. The professional was Harold (Stub) Brown, New London, who invited Dr. Steiner and his brother, to fish on the Wolf river behind the Brown home. Wide-Open Race in Prospect;
5 Teams Have 9 Lettermen

CENTRAL WISCONSIN CONFERENCE
(1963 Final Standings)

Team	W	L
Manawa	7	1
Waupaca	5	3
Weyauwega	4	4
Bonduel	3	5
Wautoma	2	6

Central Wisconsin Conference baseball squads are preparing for the first round games of the 1964 season, slated to get underway April 21. An apparent wide-open race for the loop title is in the offing.

The 9-member league boasts 74 returning lettermen with Amherst, the last-place finisher in '63, having the least of that number with six.

Five schools — Waupaca, Weyauwega, Bonduel, Wittenberg and Marion — have rosters with nine veterans, while Manawa and Wautoma possess eight. Iola-Scandinavia has seven award-winners on hand.

Manawa, the defending champion, may have a tough time repeating. Two starting pitchers from the '63 contingent were dropped from the squad for disciplinary reasons.

Scores Non-Loop Win
Waupaca notched a 4-3 non-conference win over Menasha in its initial outing. The Comets could have tied for the top rung on the CW ladder in '63, but because of tournament play, they had to cancel their last two games.

At least two of the loop's returning pitchers have no-hitters to their credit.

A breakdown of each team's prospects.

MANAWA — Coach Robert Arndt has eight lettermen among the candidates. Shortstop Bill Testin and catcher Mike Brown head the list of veterans. Others are infielders Dan Steinbach, Ron Much and Dick Bugarski. Steve Laedtker and Al Peske are experienced outfielders with Larry Nelson available for reserve catching duty and a possible outfield berth. Much has had some hurling experience and will probably carry much of the early pitching burden.

WAUPACA — Coach Dick

Weed has these veterans on hand: infielders Gary Johannecht, Dave Peterson, Paul Reyes and Warren Mather. Pitchers are Doug Kolb and sophomore Rick Riddle. Experienced fly-chasers are John Townsend and Jim Strebe. Rog Green will likely open behind the plate.

WEYAUWEGA — Coach Jim Otte banks heavily on the strong arm of Jack Kapitke. Other lettermen moundsmen are Rick Birkholz and Guy Lankford. Birkholz can be used at short with Lankford available for outfield assignment.

Six other "W" winners are among the candidates. They are infielders Jim Baehman, Gaylon Barz and Jim and Greg Hildebrand; outfielders Eugene Montgomery and Kon Wangelin. The latter two may also split the catching duties.

BONDUEL — Nine lettermen and 35 prospects are available to Coach Tom Flanagan. The Bears boast strong hitting in infielders Ron Rosenow and Bill Raath, the one-two plate men on the '63 contingent. The battery hopes are also high with Leon Drage and John Wartman on the hill and Eugene Luepke behind the plate.

Other returning veterans are outfielders Dennis Stoltenow, Jim Ziegler and Steve Boehm, along with second-sacker Dick Habighorst. Rosenow and Raath posted .480 and .395 batting averages in '63.

WAUTOMA — The infield will be the forte of the squad under the first-year tutelage of Coach John Magnin. Veterans include "Buzz" Schultz, Dave Stelter, Rog Anderson and Dean Gunderson. Dennis Masticola and Joe Boquist are outfield lettermen, while Gary Booth and catcher Dean Eagan will form the battery.

Top prospects include infielders Steve Mathews, Terry Christie, Ron Masticola and Darrell Parker. Jack Masticola is expected to be used as the No. 2 hurler.

Other lettermen include outfielders Dave Boda and Greg Cowles, infielders Steve Westland, Dennis Spranger and Gary Wyman, catcher Mike Van Order and utility man Steve Blocher.

IOLA-SCANDINAVIA — Howie Cleaves and six other lettermen will carry the hopes of Coach Jerry Bonino for the '64 campaign. Cleaves is the top hurler on the squad, and Ken Sorenson is expected to catch. Other veterans are infielders Bob Johnson and Dave Skowen and outfielders Charles Holtebeck and Rick and Paul Nelson.

Top prospects include Arden Stollenberg, Bruce Butzberg and Bill and Bob Opperman.

MARION — Coach John Bartelt, in his 11th year as diamond mentor, has nine "M" winners: seniors Dennis Brandenburg, Dennis Sturm and Walter Weber; juniors Jamie Brandenburg, Darrell Erdman and Tim Olson and sophomores Ken Frailing, Ted Gerbig and Dick Suehring. All but Olson and Erdman competed on the Marion Legion contingent. Frailing and Jim Olson are the hurlers. Frailing twirled a no-hitter in his debut last year as a freshman in a 6-0 win over Tigerton.

AMHERST — Coach Dene Huettner will use mostly freshmen and sophomores with a nucleus of six lettermen.

Veterans include infielders Jon Krogwald, John Pitt and Walter Bicknase; outfielders Paul Groshek and Russell Henke and catcher Leon Peplinski. Groshek and Bicknase may be used on the mound.

Acheson Criticized for Outlining Asia Defense

Some U. S. Leaders Charged Speech Resulted In Communist Attack on South Korea in '50

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—In 1950 Secretary of State Dean Acheson talked on the American defense line in the Pacific and got denounced for years afterwards. Republicans made him a punching bag.

It was one of the twists of history — or politics — that Gen. Douglas MacArthur 10 months before drew exactly the same defense line but this went unmentioned by Acheson's critics and defenders.

Among the critics were Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Even when MacArthur died April 5, what he said in 1949 must have been long-forgotten. This writer found no mention of it.

Reds Winning
This was the background. In 1949 the Chinese Communists were smashing Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists on the China mainland. Formosa, an island

100 miles off the coast, belonged to China.

On March 1, 1949, MacArthur—in an interview with an English newspaperman, Ward Price—discussed the American defense perimeter in the Pacific. The interview was published in the New York Times March 3.

MacArthur said the Anglo-Saxon "line of defense runs through the chain of islands fringing the coast of Asia." He listed them, from the Aleutians to the Philippines, through Japan. He left out Formosa.

In December 1949, Chiang and what was left of his army fled to Formosa. But by then the United States had given up on him and on Jan. 5, 1950, President Harry S. Truman called in newsmen to make a statement.

He said the United States would take no action to defend Chiang and his forces on Formosa, that it was a Chinese problem. This was an administration policy decision.

On Jan. 12, 1950, Acheson supported Truman and explained the decision in a talk at the National Press Club.

Repeating what MacArthur had said 10 months before, Acheson put the American defense line in the Pacific off the Asian coast and in the string of islands from the Aleutians to the Philippines. He, too, omitted Formosa.

He then went further than MacArthur and sought to answer the natural question raised by his statement: What about protecting other areas in the Pacific and Asia from attack. Acheson said: "It must be clear that no person can guarantee these areas against military attack. But it must be clear that such a guarantee is hardly sensible or necessary within the realm of practical relationships."

United Nations
If such an attack did occur, he said, "the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the charter of the United Nations which so far has not proved a weak reed to lean on by any people who are determined to protect their independence against outside aggression."

While Acheson didn't commit the United States to the defense of any country attacked in Asia, he didn't say the United States wouldn't try to defend it. He left the door open for an American decision later.

A would-be attacker could construe it either way. But the United States had just gone through an experience with Chiang whose government and forces had frittered away American help.

Truman Reacted
On June 25, 1950, the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea. Truman acted at once: He sent American forces to the defense of Korea, under MacArthur. The United Nations quickly joined in. And Truman defended Formosa from Red Chinese attack.

Seven days after the attack started McCarthy denounced

Taylor Opposes U. S. Troops In Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, says he opposes the use of American troops "as the direct means of suppressing the guerrillas" in South Viet Nam.

"Under all circumstances?" he was asked by Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., R-Mich., at a Feb. 17 session of a House Appropriations subcommittee.

"Under all circumstances that I can think of," Taylor replied.

Taylor testified with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at a closed meeting. The subcommittee released a censored transcript of the testimony today.

McNamara testified that Congress had hurt the military assistance program by cutting it down from $1.40 billion to $1 billion last year. And he added that the $1 billion requested this year was not enough.

Acheson for "telling the world" before the war began that the United States would not intervene.

On August 7, Taft said "we invited the attack" because Acheson "announced last winter that we would not defend Korea and Formosa."

And during the 1952 presidential campaign MacArthur was keynote speaker at the Republican convention which nominated Eisenhower — they also denounced Acheson along the same lines.

British Guiana Extends Friendly Hand to Reds

BY RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Writer

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and Janet, his American-born wife who is secretary of his party, have extended a warm hand of friendship to Communist countries, encouraging trade ties and educational exchanges.

Cuba, a principal market for British Guiana rice, recently ordered $1,890,000 worth of rail-roads from the colony through Guyana Import Export Limited (Gimpex), a private behavcompany specializing in trade with Communist countries. Some of its directors are politically sympathetic to Jagan's government.

At the Gimpex office near the government buildings in Georgetown, samples are on display of such items as quality Czechoslovak typewriters and shortwave transistor radios selling for under $50. Eastern European canned foodstuffs and blood tonic from Red China.

Set Up Outlets

The agency, which acts on behalf of Cuban ships and arranges visas for visitors to companies still have the major share of business, however.

Cuba, also plans to import East German cars and farm machinery and set up gasoline outlets.

Gimpex imports goods on credits from suppliers in Communist countries with repayment terms ranging between six months and five years at 2 per cent interest. This easy credit became available at a time when many western companies were reported to have tightened their own credit lines to British Guiana because of the uncertain political situation. The western loan from Gimpex to help tide it over after the strike.

Of growing importance in Jagan's party organization is the young people's group. One of its officials says it has many adherents among the 120,000 youths in the 12-35 age group, although the paid-up membership is only approximately 15,000. On special occasions, such as its recent annual conference, the members appear in uniforms of white shirts, green ties and red berets.

Freedom Riders to Face Arrest Despite Federal Court Order

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The city's special civil rights counsel says a federal court order that police can't arrest Negroes who integrate transportation facilities won't prevent authorities from acting in the event of another surge of "freedom riders."

Attorney Tom Watkins said the freedom rider movement "was an organized thing to stir up trouble."

U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize, 75, a native of Mississippi, issued a sweeping injunction Monday barring Jackson police from arresting Negroes who defy state laws requiring segregation of public bus, railroad and airport facilities.

The case had been before Judge Mize since 1961 when the first wave of freedom riders flooded Mississippi to test segregation practices.

Kremlin Forecasts Era of Opportunity

Reporter Finds Russia Must Be Relieved of China Strain

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The Kremlin virtually read the Chinese out of the world Communist movement Friday, forecasting an era which brings new opportunities and new dangers for the United States and its friends.

How to exploit what appears to be an unbridgeable chasm between Moscow and Peking was a major concern of the White House and State Department long before the Soviet Communist party issued its showdown challenge. Now it has become a vital concern.

Stanley Johnson was an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow for six years until 1962. He has reported on the Soviet-Chinese quarrel since it became acute in 1959-1960. In this analysis he discusses the implications for the United States in the newest development in the dispute.

Not only does such a break

To most diplomats, it long has seemed inevitable that a definitive break with China would mean the Soviet Union would mean the return to the relatively small "socialist camp" of the late 1940's, it also means the Soviet Union must guard the world's longest border against an openly hostile China.

unbearable strain unless there is relaxation somewhere. It could come in Berlin, Cuba or any point where Moscow and the West are in conflict.

The possibility remains that pressure from other Communist parties during the proposed meeting might bring the Chinese black sheep back into the Communist fold. It seems much more probable, however, that they will continue to scorn any shepherding from Moscow.

America's Communist Party Gasping, but Is Still Alive

Through 45 Years CPUSA Has Echoed Kremlin Orders

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN

At eye-level, outside a grubby three-story building on New York's W. 26th St., you can see at a glance why the Communist party in the United States is gasping for breath. You can almost hear the death rattle these days.

Attached to the building is a copy of the party's paper, the Worker, in admiring imitation

The Communist Party in the United States has never had an easy row to hoe. Now it is old and feeble, but still dangerous. In the first of a series of four articles on the party's rise and fall, an AP specialist tells of the losing battle to keep up with Stalin's twists and turns.

of Moscow's institution of "wall newspapers."

Through its 45 raucous years the party—it calls itself by the initials CPUSA—undeviatingly echoed the Soviet prototype in every flip, flop, twist and turn. That was its real sickness.

Only 25 years ago, helped by a depression and imminence of World War II, the CPUSA could flex muscle in innumerable hair-raising enterprises. Its

Kennedy, Ballard Still Head New School Name List

The late President John F. Kennedy and Appleton pioneer Anson Ballard continue to be frontrunners in proposed names for the new southeast senior high school.

Each received support in letters received by the Appleton Board of Education.

A rural Appleton woman who asked not to have her name used in print wrote that she and her neighbor believe the new school should be named for President Kennedy.

Mrs. S. Frank Shattuck, 324 E. Wisconsin Ave., Neenah, a native of Appleton, wrote to endorse the proposal to name the school for Ballard, one of Appleton's first lawyers and its first city attorney.

No Decision Date Set

The board has been receiving letters and petitions on the naming of the new high school for several months. No date has been set for a decision.

Plans for the southeast high school are now being drawn. According to the present timetable, construction will start by fall and the school will be opened in the fall of 1966.

Board members have commented that they probably will select names for both the new school and the present Appleton High School.

'Ole Wonderful' Had Quite a Load for A Peaceable Man

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Wonderful Rawls told a magistrate he was completely peaceful last weekend when police found on his person a cat-of-nine-tails, a loaded starter pistol with steel slivers in the barrel, a knife and a homemade brass knuckle.

The magistrate said, "Carrying any of these things is against the law. I want you to know that and tell your friends."

"I don't have any friends," Wonderful said.

"Well," said the magistrate, "you just lost another. I'm fining you $300 and $9 costs."

Child's School Misbehavior May Mean Work Difficulty

MADISON—The fact that a child misbehaves in school does not mean he's highly creative; it may simply mean he's having difficulty with his school work.

Prof. Herbert Klausmeier of the University of Wisconsin School of Education said recently.

He made the statement to refute reports that quoted him as saying "often the naughtiest and silliest children are likely to be more creative."

The great number of children who misbehave will not be highly creative adults, for high creativity demands that students conform sufficiently well to school regulations to complete high school and college and even graduate work Klausmeier said.

"We have found that not all children with high IQs are creative, but most high scorers in creativity also have high IQs. We really should not expect high creativity from low IQ children," he added.

Gifted Children

Since 1955, Prof. Klausmeier has been collaborating with personnel of the Milwaukee public schools in a study of gifted children from kindergarten through Communists, President Roosevelt became a "liberal Democrat."

As the Spanish civil war, a rehearsal for Soviet and Nazi arms, set the stage for World War II, Communists prospered with antiwar slogans. They even came close to forming a common front with extreme isolationists. Then came a heavy blow. Stalin signed a nonaggression pact with Nazi Germany.

That cost the party heavily in leaders and intellectual followers. Many artists, writers and theatrical people turned away in dismay as Stalin's act produced the signal for World War II.

Ruling April 29 on Jack Ruby's Motion Seeking New Trial

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Condemned slayer Jack Ruby will find out April 29 whether Judge Joe B. Brown will grant his motion for a new trial.

If Judge Brown overrules the motion—and Texas trial judges customarily do—then defense lawyers will begin polishing an appeal of the conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Judge Brown overruled a defense motion Monday asking for an extension of time to file an additional new trial motion.

Ruby's attorneys already have filed two such motions, alleging 196 errors in the month-long trial.

Ruby was sentenced to the electric chair for the Nov. 24 slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Remission of Lung Cancer Confirmed by a Physician

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—widely publicized earlier when it appeared he was making a recovery.

Mayerle returned home two days ago from the Veterans Administration Hospital at Seattle and said he had been pronounced "cured."

He has smoked heavily for some years and continues to do so. But after the 1959 diagnosis he "willed" himself to live and practiced his beliefs that good food, plenty of exercise and "good spirits" would bring recovery.

A VA Hospital physician at Seattle, who asked not to be identified, said Wednesday: "As far as we can tell, Mr. Mayerle has no evidence of cancer at the present time."

Business Spending Will Boost the Economy

BY SYLVIA PORTER

We are surging into the most powerful business spending boom since the all-time record capital spending spree of 1955-57.

Already out of a deflated and clearly "conservative" are estimates that the Government made only last month that a business investments in the new plants and equipment in 1964 would jump 10 per cent to a peak of $43.2 billion.

Increasingly probable is a larger percentage increase and every rise of a fraction of a per cent in this spending mounts into hundreds of millions of dollars. Every extra dollar of this type of spending multiplies as it fans out through the economy into several dollars of spending.

For three years business has been expanding its investment in plants and equipment. By year end this spending will be 35 per cent or more above the low of 1961 compared with a rise of 23 per cent in the 1958-60 business advance and a fantastic increase of 47 per cent during the 1955-57 capital spending boom.

Spending Pace

Pace of spending is quickening due to the stimulation of tax cuts, climbing corporation profits, business optimism on the sales-profits outlook.

Spending upswing has spread to every major industry group with the sole exception of mining. In manufacturing as a whole, the rise in outlays for plants and equipment this year could approach an awesome 20 per cent.

There is a most significant swing back for the first time since 1955-57 toward spending on brand-new factories — in contrast to the overwhelming emphasis in recent years on modernizing existing plants. A dramatic illustration is General Motors' program to spend a record of almost $2 billion in 1964. Involved is an expansion program which will be the largest in terms of added volume ever undertaken by GM and which ultimately will hike GM's passenger car capacity by about 20 per cent.

Business spending is surging on top of all-time high consumer spending. In 1955-57, the business spending spree replaced a consumer spending spree. As consumer spending particularly on autos faded after the 1955-57 splurge, business spending came in to take up the slack and keep the economy rolling. This time, though, there is no fading of consumer spending — quite the contrary. This year a total of 8 million cars will be sold.

This is big-time stuff. To be more specific on what the business spending boom will mean: It will mean lower business production costs to help U. S. factories compete successfully in our own and the world's markets with the modern plants of other industrialized nations.

It will mean more jobs, directly and indirectly — despite the automated new plants and equipment. The construction will create jobs directly for the men working on the plants and for all who serve them, and, as the new plants go into operation, employment also will be increased. Again, GM is a superb example. Says GM's chairman and President, R. C. Hodges: "When the new plants are built and equipped and the added capacity is utilized, we would look forward to an increase of about 50,000 jobs available in this country."

GM today employs about 300,000 hourly rate employees in passenger car manufacture in the U. S.

Corporation Demands

It will mean rising corporation demands for money in the markets. Corporations won't be able to finance outlays of this magnitude without more credit. These demands, in turn, will put upward pressure on interest

Beatles Were Active As Musicians in 1878

CLYDE, N.Y. (AP) — Workmen who were tearing down a house here found a printed card announcing a dance at Perkins Hall, Tuesday evening, April 9, 1878.

The card also announced: "Music by the Beatles, full orchestra."

Nobody in this central New York village can recall the Beatles of '78 or Perkins Hall.

rates and as the economy heats up, loans well may become harder to get and more expensive.

We could be heading for a business upturn of all-time proportions for peacetime — both in size and duration.

Watch the statistics on business spending plans as they are revised upward in the weeks and months ahead. Here is where 1964's boom is in the making.

Washington's 'Mess' Worst In History

Congress Confused By Public Pressure On Civil Rights

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's a real "mess in Washington" — probably one of the worst in American history. For the Congress of the United States, intimidated and frightened by street demonstrations and pressure groups, has abandoned "law and order" in respect to certain legislative procedures. It looks now as if the "civil rights" legislation will be bogged down in a morass of hundreds of proposed amendments and changes.

The Senate, instead of sending the house-passed bill to a committee to consider all the amendments and then recommend a bill to the whole body, adopted an entirely different strategy — to try to amend the bill during the debate itself. Originally this was planned in order to avoid delay in the Senate judiciary committee, because it was feared by the advocates of the bill that the measure would be tied up there indefinitely. But now it turns out that amending the bill on the floor of the Senate means a far more lengthy process than ever was envisioned if the bill had gone to the committee.

Senate Committee

The majority in the Senate could at any time have organized a select committee of its own to consider the bill and let hearings be held so that all sides could give their arguments for and against the bill as well as the proposed amendments. But it seems now that the Senate has committed itself to the long-drawn-out procedure of trying to write a bill while every one of its hundred members is given the opportunity to offer amendments. It may take months to deal with that kind of legislative mess.

When the House of Representatives, in order to avoid lengthy committee hearings, permitted amendments to be made on the floor, the bill was changed materially. When it passed the House, the proponents of the measure in the administration and in Congress insisted that the bill was a perfect measure and did not need further amendment. But as the American people became aware of some of the bill's drastic restrictions on private life in this country, public opinion began to assert itself. Now even the proponents of the "civil rights" bill are beginning to say that certain amendments are necessary.

Constitutional Questions

What is most disturbing is the utter indifference to constitutional questions. It is puzzling to read the bill passed by the house, which says that, if a motel or lodging house rents only five rooms, the owner can discriminate. The Constitution does not make any such distinction as to whether racial discrimination begins with five guests or any other fixed figure. It refers only to "equal protection of the laws."

Also, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, one of the Democratic leaders, says that there ought to be something in the bill against any job-quota guarantees and that this would reduce the concern of some of the bill's opponents. But will it satisfy the Negro pressure groups?

Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader who in general favors the house "civil rights" bill, has been struggling with the phraseology

Beautiful Peacock Has Raucous Call Like Jet Engine

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Anyone for Pavan cristatus pie? The next question is "what's that?" Well, it's peacock pie, for which, it seems, no one has the recipe.

Several home owners in East Pasadena had the ingredients Sunday morning when a flock of peacocks—Pavan cristatus—descended on their neighborhood.

Now the peacock is a beautiful bird, except when he opens his mouth. His call, if it can be called that, is a raucous screech, resembling the sound of a disabled jet engine.

The peacock, his mate, speaks in similar tones.

A crew from the humane society spent several hours chasing the birds. They caught one. The rest moved to the campus of nearby Pasadena City College, where the pursuit continued.

Where they came from, nobody knew, but officials suspected they were from the nearby Los Angeles State and County Arboretum.

U. S. Tried to Open Talks With Castro Regime Before 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States tried during 1959 and early 1960 to open talks with Cuba's Castro regime on "outstanding differences" but did not offer aid, a State Department spokesman says.

The spokesman, press officer Robert J. McCloskey, answered questions Monday about an article by Theodore Draper in the magazine New Leader, that said the United States tried to offer assistance to Prime Minister Fidel Castro but that he turned to Moscow instead.

"In these exploratory exchanges in 1960 — which were public—the question of U.S. aid did not arise," McCloskey said.

Draper, a writer and research expert on Cuban affairs who has made studies for Harvard and Columbia universities, said Castro seemed "interested at first in an offer of U.S. aid but changed his mind and entered into negotiations with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan."

of amendments for the last several weeks and is trying to get some kind of agreement among Republican senators so as to reduce public opposition to the bill.

Since the amendments are coming from both the northern and the southern senators, it is estimated that the total number proposed might reach 1,000. It's a fantastic situation, and just when the Senate is going to get through with the bill is anybody's guess. It is being freely predicted that the confusion will get to be so extensive that when the Senate bill is completed it will really be unsatisfactory to everybody. It would then have to go to conference between the two houses and be virtually rewritten. When this happens, President Johnson may be expected to intervene with his own version of a bill, and perhaps defer some controversial sections for further consideration in another bill next year.

So far as the general public is concerned, it has been given the impression that some kind of filibuster is going on in the Senate itself. While the southerners have been making lengthy speeches, the sad truth is that the "civil rights" bill is not yet ready for consideration by the Senate and will not be until amendments have been submitted for further debate later on.

Great Discord

Meanwhile, Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, has warned that the passage of the "civil rights" bill may produce "greater discord, more hatred and strife among people, and will create graver problems than any of those it is intended to solve." He adds: "There are always grounds for improvement, progress, and some reforms, but those improvements will not be attained by compulsion or coercion."

Sensor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Democrat, who was five times governor of his state and previously was mayor of the City of Cleveland, has sounded a sober note of warning over the extremes of the pressure groups. He has spoken particularly of the recent disorder in Cleveland. He favors the objectives of the "civil rights" bill, but he says: "Candidly, I state that the cause of the Negroes in Cleveland and in the nation has been markedly harmed by the recently practiced violence and threats of violence."

The "civil rights" legislation therefore deserves careful consideration even if it takes another year to do it.
